Kennedy Refuses To Abandon Try For Geneva Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite unabating signs of an East-West stalemate, President Kennedy says the Geneva disarmament conference and its sideline talks on Berlin must go on.

And he is gratified by Soviet Premier Khrushchev's declared willingness to cooperate with the United States on outer space projects.

At his news conference Wednesday, Kennedy acknowledged there is a basic difference between U.S. and Russian positions at Geneva on policing a nuclear test ban. He said "there is no evidence that we are going to quickly reach a settlement" on Berlin or Southeast Asia.

Kennedy asserted, however, that he is not prepared to abandon the effort at Geneva.

"It would be a mistake," he said, "for us to feel that there the prospects are finished."

Welcoming Khrushchev's reply to his proposals for cooperation in such fields as weather forecasting and communication via space satellites, Kennedy said the United States is committed to moving ahead "in a spirit of cooperation and for the benefit of all mankind."

A few hours after the news conference in Washington, U.S. and Soviet representatives on the U.N. Outer Space Committee met in New York.

Kennedy promised U.S. interests would be protected in these negotiations—negotiations he said are necessary "as space continues to be more and more under the hazard of being used for military purposes."

Kennedy's mood was serious, almost stern, throughout his 10th meeting with newsmen in the last 11 weeks. He spoke with obvious feeling about support for the United Nations and the service performed by National Guardsmen and reservists.

He shut out further discussion of his dispute with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon over his 1960 campaign stand on Cuba.

When a reporter questioned his implication that the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba, was American territory, he said he may have been "incorrect legally" but insisted the United States holds treaty-granted responsibility for the area.

On a variety of subjects, Kennedy had this to say:

NUCLEAR CONTROLS—An array of observation posts around the world would be inadequate unless inspection teams were allowed inside the Soviet Union, for example, to determine whether a nuclear explosion or an earthquake caused signals picked up by detection instruments located elsewhere. Soviet refusal to admit inspection teams has raised the greatest barrier to agreement at Geneva.

Dr. Robert Servatius, Eichmann's West German defense counsel, also asked to be allowed to introduce new evidence and to summon new witnesses, including a high official of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government.

Servatius asked the five-judge Supreme Court to summon Dr. Hans Globke, 63, a government counselor in Hitler's Interior Ministry, as an expert witness on the workings of Nazi racial laws.

Eichmann, condemned to the gallows as a major figure in the Nazi slaughter of six million European Jews, claimed during his trial he was only carrying out orders and had pointed a finger at Globke.

Eichmann charged that Globke was directly involved in working out the legal framework for deporting the Jews and confiscating their property—the job he himself was accused of carrying out as chief of the Gestapo's Jewish affairs section. He did not ask during the trial, however, for Globke to be called as a witness.

The defense counsel charged that Eichmann, who was captured by secret Israeli agents in 1960 while hiding in Argentina under an assumed name, was illegally brought to Israel for trial.

"The state is the kidnaper in this case," Servatius declared. "The appellant cannot ask for his rights before a court of the state which kidnapped him."

The hearing of the appeal is expected to take a week. The high court then will retire, probably for a month, to consider its ruling.

'Friendly Visitor' Program Launched

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A visit—just for the sake of a visit. This is one of the many programs for Ohio's aged citizens now being supervised by Ohio's Commission on Aging.

The "friendly visitor" program, explained commission Secretary Mrs. Rose Papier, sends women volunteers to visit elderly persons.

She said these visits help to the extent that aged persons feel they are still part of the community and someone wants them. Volunteers do not provide professional services, the secretary added.

The 15-member commission reported Wednesday on progress in their areas. The present group was established by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle last October.

Algiers General Strike Shows Opposition to Independence

ALGIERS (AP) — A general strike by European workers demonstrating their resistance to Algerian independence shut down practically all activity in Algiers today.

Railroad service, plane traffic and city transportation halted. Water, gas and electric supplies were cut. Garages and filling stations refused to sell gasoline. Shops closed at noon when the order for the strike was issued. No time limit was set on the walkout.

Employees at the air terminal grounded traffic by demanding that passengers produce passes from the European Secret Army Organization, which is fighting to keep Algeria French.

Labor unions gave the strike order in protest against the arrest Wednesday night of the secretary general of the Railway Union Federation. But the movement appeared to be part of the secret army campaign to paralyze economic activity.

Business conditions were just beginning to return to normal after a one-day general strike Monday protesting the cease-fire between the French army and the Algerian nationalists, which went into effect that day.

A secret army broadcast in Oran called for a two-hour strike there tonight also.

The strike movement developed as the French army and police appeared to be putting up firm opposition to the European extremists seeking to wreck the cease-fire.

The secret army gave an ultimatum to government forces to clear out of Bab el Oued, a workers' quarter in Algiers where trouble is frequent, by noon or be considered as occupation troops. But the government forces stayed put.

French gendarmes and secret army commandos battled openly for two hours in Oran Wednesday. Throughout Wednesday night Europeans fired from balconies and windows on French army pa-

Rain, Snow Fall On Scattered Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rain and snow fell in many sections in the West and in a few spots in the eastern half of the nation today. Dry weather prevailed in most of the Midwest where rising rivers have caused some flooding.

The rain belt in the West covered the central and northern Pacific Coast areas, with showers and snow flurries in the northern Plateau and Rocky Mountain regions. Two inches of snow was reported in Burns, Ore. Snow flurries continued in the northern Plains and southern Rockies.

Rain and drizzle dampened areas in the upper Ohio Valley and eastward into the north and middle Atlantic Coast states and in central sections of Tennessee.

Michigan City Given Donation by Church

MENOMINEE, Mich. (AP)—The First Presbyterian church here has made a $100 donation to the city of Menominee.

The Rev. J. Robert Rank, church moderator, told City Council, "Although we strongly hold to the basic idea that churches should be exempt from taxes on property used for religious purposes, we feel that we want to make a voluntary donation to the city in appreciation for its services."

Boys Do 'Something Brave' To Qualify as Astronauts

ELGIN, ILL. (AP)—Two boys, 9 years old, who told the head of America's space agency they "did something brave" so they could become astronauts, have disclosed their training technique.

"I laid at the bottom of a hill on the other side of a pile of snow," Tom Wicklen said Wednesday night, "and my friend, Matt Fischer, went across me on his sled."

"That took a lot of courage," the two boys said in a letter which found its way to the desk of James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington.

NASA officials said that among the thousands of letters received since the orbital flight of Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. Feb. 20, none has expressed greater determination.

The two Elgin fourth graders wrote Webb: "We will both take any training that is to be done. 'Must we prove we have guts?' We just did today. 'Matt and I did something brave. I laid down at the bottom of a hill, and my best friend, Matt, rode over me."

The boys neglected to mention in the letter that Matt rode a sled.

"I think it took more courage to go over me," Tom said.

"It was more difficult for Tom," young Fischer assured a reporter.

"I could feel the blades, that's all," said Tom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter R. Wicklen. "I told my mother about the letter, and she just laughed."

Matt said his folks, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Fischer, thought the idea was "pretty good."

"I didn't tell them about the sled ride yet," Matt confided to a newsman.

Webb said he had answered the boys' letter and told them that while it takes courage to orbit the earth, it takes book learning, too.

"We both decided to become astronauts shortly after Glenn went up," Tom said. "Before that I wanted to be a carpenter."

Fronzizi Seeks New Cabinet

General Strike Faces Argentine Chieftain

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Arturo Frondizi struggled today to put together a coalition government to deal with a nationwide strike threatened by supporters of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron.

The nation's military officers were divided over whether Frondizi should remain in office. Peronists threatened violence.

Fronzizi found little immediate support from the politicians to help him combat rising Peronist opposition. Leading anti-Peron politicians harshly rejected his first attempts to bring them into a "coalition Cabinet of national unity" imposed on him by the military.

Leaders of 62 pro-Peron labor unions called a general strike of nearly two million workers for Friday and warned that the nationwide walkout would continue until Frondizi rescinded his decree wiping out the Peronist victories in parliamentary and provincial elections last Sunday.

Officials of the Roman Catholic Church reportedly were trying to pacify labor leaders and have them call off the strike. The last major strike here, stemming from one of Frondizi's austerity measures, resulted in bombings of buses and street fighting.

Thirty-two unions said they would not strike but made clear their sentiments, asserting "the reason for our troubles is Frondizi." The powerful General Confederation of Labor, mother organization of all the unions, did not immediately endorse the walkout.

The underground "Supreme Council of the Peronista party" issued a manifesto urging working people to resist Frondizi's nullification order. "We will resort to violence if necessary," the council declared.

Despite the setbacks, Frondizi was reported feeling assured that a solution to the four-day crisis was near. Buenos Aires Mayor Hernan Giralt, Frondizi's emissary in negotiations with the military chiefs, announced after a series of conferences at government house that his mission was over.

Right-Winger Is Blamed for Laos Discord

TOKYO (AP)—The Kennedy administration is reported to be blaming Laos' right-wing strong man general, Phoumi Nosavan, for blocking formation of a neutral coalition government there. U.S. officials are hoping mad about his attitude.

A reliable source whose name cannot be disclosed says Washington considers that Phoumi is dragging his feet.

Whether he will acknowledge it or not, informed sources say W. Averell Harriman, U.S. assistant secretary of state for Far East Affairs, has gone to Bangkok to see whether he can get Thailand's prime minister, Marshal Sarit Thanarat, to alter Phoumi's attitude. Besides being close politically, Sarit and Phoumi are cousins.

The United States already has put so far ineffectual pressure on Phoumi by withholding $6 million in aid to Phoumi's government.

Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev agreed at Vienna that the country should be neutralized.

With this agreement in mind, the Geneva conference, which Harriman attended, hammered out an apparently workable formula for a neutral government. All it needed was the consent of the three hostile Laotian princes—Boun Oum, propped up by Phoumi, Souvanna Phouma and Communist-leaning Souphanouvong.

Souvanna and Souphanouvong agreed. Phoumi balked.

U.S.-Soviet Space Parley Scheduled

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union begin detailed discussions Tuesday on how they can work together in developing a series of far-reaching outer space projects.

The talks were arranged at an informal meeting of high level experts of the two countries following an exchange of friendly letters between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev.

U.N. diplomats were elated over the apparent willingness of the two super powers to take steps toward cooperation on space projects.

Khrushchev, in replying to a proposal by the President for space cooperation, said the time was ripe to go ahead in several fields.

The Soviet Premier mentioned satellites for weather forecasting and long-range communications, mapping of the earth's magnetic fields, space law and medicine, and the organization of search and rescue for astronauts who make accidental landings.

But Khrushchev said that an agreement would have to be reached on disarmament before the two nations can go far on joint travel to the planets.

Kennedy told his news conference in Washington Wednesday that he welcomed Khrushchev's offer and expressed hope that the basis has been laid for practical cooperation in the exploration of space.

Hugh L. Dryden, deputy director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and Soviet space expert Anatoly A. Blagoravov will open the exploratory talks in New York next week.

They met Wednesday night at the U.S. mission to the United Nations for a friendly chat after members of the 28-nation U.N. Outer Space Committee had heard NASA officials explain the U.S. space program for the next decade.

Soviet experts will make a report Friday night to the U.N. committee and show films of Soviet space projects.

Pakistan Horse Given to Jackie

First Lady Cheered By Oriental Natives

LAHORE, Pakistan (AP)—Pakistan's President Mohammed Ayub Khan took America's horse-loving First Lady to one of the most colorful horse shows in the world today and then gave her a Pakistani thoroughbred to take home.

Delighted at the gift, Jacqueline Kennedy said she was worried about how the animal would get back to the United States. Officials told her the 10-year-old bay gelding, named Sardar or Chief—would travel by an American military plane.

The plane will also pick up the two tiger cubs she got in India Wednesday.

Mrs. Kennedy said she hoped the horse would not get aircsick.

Pakistan was giving the U.S. First Lady royal treatment. It was a school and government of nice holiday Wednesday when she arrived from neutralist India to begin a 4½-day visit to this Asian ally of the United States. Officials declared another holiday today so children and workers could see her drive about the city.

Tens of thousands lined the flag-draped streets as she went to the stadium for the final day of the Lahore Horse and Cattle Show. There she joined Ayub Khan and West Pakistan Governor Malik Amir Mohammad Khan in a carriage escorted by 38 lancers of the presidential bodyguard.

Fifty-six trumpeters sounded a fanfare as the carriage entered the stadium. The crowd of 150,000 rose and cheered. The carriage circled the field and then drove to the reviewing stand.

Mrs. Kennedy and Ayub stood at attention as a massed band of bagpipes, drums and brasses from 48 regiments played the Pakistan national anthem.

DiSalle Ears May Be Burning After Speeches by Foes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's ears are burning today, it may be because they were talking about him Wednesday night.

In Columbus, Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy took some swipes at the governor's record on labor matters.

In Lancaster, C. Stanley Mechem, Ohio Senate majority leader, told 10th Congressional District Republican leaders that DiSalle's "spending spree should be brought to a close."

Mechem praised State Auditor James A. Rhodes as "the best qualified candidate (for governor) the Republican party could pick."

He predicted that DiSalle, if re-nominated by the Democrats "will run against the Ohio Legislature" instead of Rhodes "on the grounds we (GOP legislators) didn't appropriate enough money."

"You can't appropriate money you don't have," Mechem maintained. "The finance director overestimated the revenues. That is why the state is in financial difficulties now."

Mechem charged "there has been plenty of waste" in state government, and said "DiSalle should have made a cut clear across the board six months ago... that's what you and I would have done if we didn't have the money."

The attorney general, campaigning against DiSalle for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, has sent a letter to 850 Ohio labor leaders. In it, McElroy said DiSalle unsuccessfully tried to saddle organized labor with a "totally unnecessary 'labor reform' bill" — but "has never moved a finger to enact a state 'minimum wage' law nor a Little Wagner Act."

McElroy told the labor leaders not one of six pieces of legislation on labor's list of important bills were enacted while the governor was working with the Democratic-dominated 103rd General Assembly. Most of these pertained to elections and election registration.

McElroy claims that in his 1958 attorney general campaign he was the only candidate for state office to take a clear-cut stand against the so-called right-to-work amendment.

West, Russia Fail in Search

Accord on Test Ban Still Major Problem

GENEVA (AP) — Frustrated small nations revolted briefly today against the big power stalemate at the Geneva disarmament conference and served notice they intend to take a hand in trying to break the deadlock.

However, the deadlock deepened because the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union failed completely to find any basis on which they could agree to negotiate for a nuclear weapons test ban treaty.

There was a two-hour and 40-minute meeting of delegations of the three atomic powers this afternoon to discuss a test ban.

Sir Michael Wright of Britain then told reporters, "We shall report (to the 17-nation conference) that we have reached no agreement."

Soviet Delegate Semyon Tsarapkin said: "We have reached a complete stalemate. We have found it impossible to agree."

A formal session of the full conference had produced the brief but potentially significant revolt of the small nations. Sparked by a move by British Foreign Secretary Lord Home, it seemed to be directed chiefly against Russia, which the smaller Western Allies particularly consider responsible for the stalemate.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko are co-chairmen of the conference, with responsibility for planning its work.

Manuel Tello of Mexico, the presiding officer, announced this morning the cochairmen had failed to agree on how to organize the work and suggested that there be no meeting of the 17 this afternoon. In effect they were asking more time to dick.

At that point, informants later reported, Lord Home said sharply "Let's get on with it." This bid for an afternoon meeting, contrary to the recommendation of the conference leaders, was immediately supported by Italy and Canada. Like Britain they are close U.S. allies and would probably not have acted without some word to Rusk about their plans.

Diplomats who were informed on the closed meeting said that the brief discussion by Foreign Secretary Howard C. Green of Canada and Carlo Russo, Italian undersecretary of state, was bluntly to the point of big power failure and insisted on action by the rest of the conference membership. Tello then ordered the informal afternoon meeting, saying that was the sense of the conference.

On the nuclear test breakdown, Tsarapkin said on leaving the meeting at the Palace of Nations that no agreement is possible "except on the basis of national control."

"Any kind of international control is out of the question," he asserted.

Israel Says Syria Fires on Laborers

JERUSALEM (AP) — Syrian border forces fired today on Israeli laborers working in the fields of Kfar Seld, a Galilean settlement, official Israeli sources said. No one was injured.

The informants said the Israelis did not return the fire, but lodged another complaint with the U.N. Mixed Armistice Commission at this latest incident on the tense frontier.

The ground fire came a few hours after Israeli and Syrian jets clashed in dog fights over the border with both countries charging an invasion of their air space. Israel denied a Syrian claim that one Israeli plane was shot down.

Her salary will go to a children's charity, she said.

The blonde wife of Monaco's ruler, Prince Rainier, announced Monday she will make a film under the direction of Alfred Hitchcock during a vacation in the United States.

VERY RARELY is someone so small, and yet so important, as a newspaper delivery boy commending for the part he plays in this big world when so many are quick to criticize. . . Thomas R. Boyer, 1095 S. Washington St., has written the following in recognition of his paper boy:

We appreciate our paper boy,
We sure think he's grand.
Every night at five o'clock
We hear our paper land.

Each night at five o'clock
He tosses us the news,
If it weren't for our paper boy
We sure wouldn't have the blues.

Out in all kinds of weather
With a smile on his face,
I wonder if those who gripe the most,
Would be willing to take his place.

As he travels on his way
With his heart full of joy,
We're mighty proud of that lad,
For he's our paper boy.

WET STREETS in Circleville early today were not caused by rain. . . On the contrary, the rather damp conditions were brought about by human hands, not Mother Nature. . .

The story unfolded in the wee hours of the morning when service department crews initiated their street cleanup effort. . . A more attractive appearance of the general business area signified the all-out effort when daylight hours arrived. . .

Removed from the local scene was a great amount of unsightly winter sand, dirt and other debris. . . The work did not go unnoticed. . . Nor the effort behind it. . . More of the same should be in order.

Algiers General Strike Shows Opposition to Independence

ALGIERS (AP) — A general strike by European workers demonstrated their resistance to Algerian independence shut down practically all activity in Algiers today.

Railroad service, plane traffic and city transportation halted. Water, gas and electric supplies were cut. Garages and filling stations refused to sell gasoline. Shops closed at noon when the order for the strike was issued. No time limit was set on the walkout.

Employees at the air terminal grounded traffic by demanding that passengers produce passes from the European Secret Army Organization, which is fighting to keep Algeria French.

Labor unions gave the strike order in protest against the arrest Wednesday night of the secretary general of the Railway Union Federation. But the movement appeared to be part of the secret army campaign to paralyze economic activity.

Business conditions were just beginning to return to normal after a one-day general strike Monday protesting the cease-fire between the French army and the Algerian nationalists, which went into effect that day.

A secret army broadcast in Oran called for a two-hour strike there tonight also.

The strike movement developed as the French army and police appeared to be putting up firm opposition to the European extremists seeking to wreck the cease-fire.

The secret army gave an ultimatum to government forces to clear out of Bab el Oued, a workers quarter in Algiers where trouble is frequent, by noon or be considered as occupation troops. But the government forces stayed put.

French gendarmes and secret army commandos battled openly for two hours in Oran Wednesday. Throughout Wednesday night Europeans fired from balconies and windows on French army pa-trois cruising Algiers' deserted streets. Terrorist attacks accounted for two Moslems dead and four wounded.

In contrast with the bloodshed between Europeans there was calm throughout Algeria between French army forces and the Algerian nationalists. French headquarters said leaders of the National Liberation Front in a number of areas had offered their cooperation.

U.S.-Soviet Space Parley Scheduled

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union begin detailed discussions Tuesday on how they can work together in developing a series of far-reaching outer space projects.

The talks were arranged at an informal meeting of high level experts of the two countries following an exchange of friendly letters between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev.

U.N. diplomats were elated over the apparent willingness of the two super powers to take steps toward cooperation on space projects.

Khrushchev, in replying to a proposal by the President for space cooperation, said the time was ripe to go ahead in several fields.

The Soviet Premier mentioned satellites for weather forecasting and long-range communications, mapping of the earth's magnetic fields, space law and medicine, and the organization of search and rescue for astronauts who make accidental landings.

But Khrushchev said that an agreement would have to be reached on disarmament before the two nations can go far on joint travel to the planets.

Kennedy told his news conference in Washington Wednesday that he welcomed Khrushchev's offer and expressed hope that the basis has been laid for practical cooperation in the exploration of space.

Hugh L. Dryden, deputy director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and Soviet space expert Anatoly A. Blagonravov will open the exploratory talks in New York next week.

They met Wednesday night at the U.S. mission to the United Nations for a friendly chat after members of the 28-nation U.N. Outer Space Committee had heard NASA officials explain the U.S. space program for the next decade.

Soviet experts will make a report Friday night to the U.N. committee and show films of Soviet space projects.

Pakistan Horse Given to Jackie

First Lady Cheered
By Oriental Natives

LAHORE, Pakistan (AP)—Pakistan's President Mohammed Ayub Khan took America's horse-loving First Lady to one of the most colorful horse shows in the world today and then gave her a Pakistani thoroughbred to take home.

Delighted at the gift, Jacqueline Kennedy said she was worried about how the animal would get back to the United States. Officials told her the 10-year-old bay gelding, named Sardar or Chief—would travel by an American military plane.

The plane will also pick up the two tiger cubs she got in India Wednesday.

Mrs. Kennedy said she hoped the horse would not get sick.

Pakistan was giving the U.S. First Lady royal treatment. It was a school and government office holiday Wednesday when she arrived from neutralist India to begin a 4½-day visit to this Asian ally of the United States. Officials declared another holiday today so children and workers could see her drive about the city.

Tens of thousands lined the flag-draped streets as she went to the stadium for the final day of the Lahore Horse and Cattle Show. There she joined Ayub Khan and West Pakistan Governor Malik Amir Mohammad Khan in a carriage escorted by 38 lancers of the presidential bodyguard.

Fifty-six trumpeters sounded a fanfare as the carriage entered the stadium. The crowd of 150,000 rose and cheered. The carriage circled the field and then drove to the reviewing stand.

Mrs. Kennedy and Ayub stood at attention as a massed band of bagpipes, drums and brasses from 48 regiments played the Pakistan national anthem.

DiSalle Ears May Be Burning After Speeches by Foes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's ears are burning today, it may be because they were talking about him Wednesday night.

In Columbus, Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy took some swipes at the governor's record on labor matters.

In Lancaster, C. Stanley Mechem, Ohio Senate majority leader, told 10th Congressional District Republican leaders that DiSalle's "spending spree should be brought to a close."

Mechem praised State Auditor James A. Rhodes as "the best qualified candidate (for governor) will run against the Ohio Legislature" instead of Rhodes "on the grounds we (GOP legislators) didn't appropriate enough money."

"You can't appropriate money you don't have," Mechem maintained. "The finance director overestimated the revenues. That is why the state is in financial difficulties now."

Mechem charged "there has been plenty of waste" in state government, and said "DiSalle should have made a cut clear across the board six months ago. . . that's what you and I would have done if we didn't have the money."

The attorney general, campaigning against DiSalle for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, has sent a letter to 850 Ohio labor leaders. In it, McElroy says DiSalle unsuccessfully tried to saddle organized labor with a "totally unnecessary 'labor reform' bill" — but "has never moved a finger to enact a state 'minimum wage' law nor a Little Wagner Act."

McElroy told the labor leaders not one of six pieces of legislation on labor's list of important bills were enacted while the governor was working with the Democratic-dominated 103rd General Assembly. Most of these pertained to elections and election registration.

McElroy claims that in his 1958 attorney general campaign he was the only candidate for state office to take a clear-cut stand against the so-called right-to-work amendment.

West, Russia Fail in Search Accord on Test Ban Still Major Problem

GENEVA (AP) — Frustrated small nations revolted briefly today against the big power stalemate at the Geneva disarmament conference and served notice they intend to take a hand in trying to break the deadlock.

However, the deadlock deepened because the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union failed completely to find any basis on which they could agree to negotiate for a nuclear weapons test ban treaty.

There was a two-hour and 40-minute meeting of delegations of the three atomic powers this afternoon to discuss a test ban.

Sir Michael Wright of Britain then told reporters, "We shall report (to the 17-nation conference) that we have reached no agreement."

Soviet Delegate Semyon Tsarapkin said: "We have reached a complete stalemate. We have found it impossible to agree."

A formal session of the full conference had produced the brief but potentially significant revolt of the small nations. Sparked by a move by British Foreign Secretary Lord Home, it seemed to be directed chiefly against Russia, which the smaller Western Allies particularly consider responsible for the stalemate.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko are co-chairmen of the conference, with responsibility for planning its work.

Manuel Tello of Mexico, the presiding officer, announced this morning the cochairmen had failed to agree on how to organize the work and suggested that there be no meeting of the 17 this afternoon. In effect they were asking more time to dicker.

At that point, informants later reported, Lord Home said sharply "Let's get on with it." This bid for an afternoon meeting, contrary to the recommendation of the conference leaders, was immediately supported by Italy and Canada. Like Britain they are close U.S. allies and would probably not have acted without their plans.

Diplomats who were informed on the closed meeting said that the brief discussion by Foreign Secretary Howard C. Green of Canada and Carlo Russo, Italian undersecretary of state, was bluntly to the point of big power failure and insisted on action by the rest of the conference membership. Tello then ordered the informal afternoon meeting, saying that was the sense of the conference.

On the nuclear test breakdown, Tsarapkin said on leaving the meeting at the Palace of Nations that no agreement is possible "except on the basis of national control."

"Any kind of international control is out of the question," he asserted.

Israel Says Syria Fires on Laborers

JERUSALEM (AP) — Syrian border forces fired today on Israeli laborers working in the fields of Kfar Seld, a Galilean settlement, official Israeli sources said. No one was injured.

The informants said the Israelis did not return the fire, but lodged another complaint with the U.N. Mixed Armistice Commission at this latest incident on the tense frontier.

The ground fire came a few hours after Israeli and Syrian jets clashed in dog fights over the border with both countries charging an invasion of their air space. Israel denied a Syrian claim that one Israeli plane was shot down.

Her salary will go to a children's charity, she said.

The blonde wife of Monaco's ruler, Prince Rainier, announced Monday she will make a film under the direction of Alfred Hitchcock during a vacation in the United States.

Soviet Plans Vast Shelter Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union claims to be planning an elaborate system of civil defense shelters plus the mass distribution of gas masks and special protective clothing.

These claims, which contrast sharply with Russian charges that the U. S. civil defense program reflects war-mongering, were revealed today in a 406-page translation of an official Soviet document.

Called "Medical and Civil Defense in Total War," the volume was placed on sale by the Commerce Department's Office of Technical Services. It was originally published in 1959 by the Byelorussian Ministry of Health, and was written by L. F. Suprun and F. P. Zverev.

Westinghouse Strike Slated For Sunday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Their threatened strike now set tentatively for midnight Sunday, union employees of the Westinghouse Electric Co. appliance plant here were set to negotiate with management again today.

Both management and officials of Local 746, International Union of Electrical Workers, said they would go back to the bargaining table at 10 a. m. for a third straight day.

The local said it is waiting for strike authorization from international headquarters to begin a walkout if there is no settlement by the end of Sunday. Earlier, the local took an affirmative strike vote among the 4,000 members and announced a Thursday midnight strike deadline. That deadline was nullified because of failure to give the company the required 72 hours' notice.

Westinghouse has questioned the union's right to strike without exhausting grievance procedures in the dispute over management's changing several refrigerator assemblers from incentive pay to straight time.

Tribunal Eyes Case of Judge Claimed Drunk while on Duty

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court heard pleas today for and against disbarment of a common pleas judge alleged to have been drunk on duty.

The high court did not indicate when it would hand down a decision on a recommendation of indefinite suspension for Paul G. Weber, 63, Stark County judge since 1947 and former five-term Canton city solicitor.

Supreme Court commissioners on grievances and discipline recommended the suspension on six of nine misconduct charges brought against Weber by the county bar association.

Climaxing the charges of appearing late for trials in an intoxicated condition over a period of years was the claim that Weber "made a shambles" of a Feb. 19, 1960, ceremony to swear in 21 new citizens.

Appearing for the judge at the Supreme Court hearing, Akron attorney D. Bruce Mansfield said that since that time Weber has rehabilitated himself. "In the intervening period," Mansfield said, "we are contending that whatever he was guilty of he has become rehabilitated and is rehabilitated now."

Answering with Mansfield was another Akron attorney, Justin T. Rogers Jr.

But Canton attorney Samuel Kriegelak, appearing with five others for the bar association, said, "We feel this is not rehabilitation... to this time there has never been an apology to the association, the citizens or the public."

U.S. Education Overseas Hit

NEA Sees 'Neglect' In Government Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Education Association charged today that government neglect and broken promises are seriously affecting the education of the children of U.S. servicemen stationed abroad.

The NEA specifically cited what it called (1) inadequate teachers' salaries in all Department of Defense schools abroad and (2) inadequate facilities in schools operated by the military in Western Europe which have resulted in crowded classrooms and half-day sessions.

The Defense Department schools in 26 foreign countries enroll about 178,000 children from the 1st through the 12th grade, employ nearly 6,500 teachers and spend about $45 million a year.

The NEA said salary scales well below the U.S. standard have made it impossible for these schools to recruit enough experienced teachers.

As a result, it said, the schools are forced to employ "relatively inexperienced teachers of marginal ability and career interest, attracted chiefly by the lure of travel and the opportunity to live abroad for a year or two."

Other vacant teaching posts the NEA said, are filled by the wives of servicemen and local teachers not qualified to teach in their own countries.

A federal law passed in 1959 said the salaries of teachers hired for foreign service should be comparable to teachers' salaries in U.S. cities of 100,000 or more population.

"This formula has not been followed because the Defense Department insists funds are not available," the NEA said.

Earlier, the local took an affirmative strike vote among the 4,000 members and announced a Thursday midnight strike deadline. That deadline was nullified because of failure to give the company the required 72 hours' notice.

Westinghouse has questioned the union's right to strike without exhausting grievance procedures in the dispute over management's changing several refrigerator assemblies from incentive pay to straight time.

Snow Avalanche Damages 12 Houses in Juneau
JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — An avalanche of snow swept down from the top of 3,500-foot Mt. Juneau today and damaged 12 houses in this city of 6,800 persons.

The slide, 200 yards wide, and the force of wind ahead of it shoved houses from foundations, tore off roofs and snapped trees and light poles.

The only injury reported was to one housewife who suffered minor glass cuts. The slide hit at 5:30 a.m. when most residents were asleep.

Local Red Cross Chapter Hosts Central Council Meet

The Pickaway County Chapter of the American Red Cross hosted the March meeting of the Central Buckeye Council yesterday at the Pickaway Arms. This is an organization of 18 central Ohio Red Cross chapters which provide volunteer services to the Veterans Administration Hospital at Chillicothe.

Mrs. Boyd Stout, Volunteer Services chairman of the local chapter, presented the Girl's Triple Trio from Circleville High School who sang several numbers for the entertainment of the group. Truman Eberly was also a guest at the meeting.

Rev. William Bumiller of London, chairman of the council, presided at the business meeting. Plans were made for Hospital Day, May 6, at the Chillicothe VA hospital. Pickaway County will provide 25 dozen cookies and a gallon of orange concentrate for punch to be served at the open house and at the hospitality dance in the evening.

Golf teams are invited to participate in the tournament which will get under way at 8 a. m. There will be two exhibitions of synchronized swimming by a Columbus swimming team during the day. Pickaway County will also provide 200 wrapped birthday gift packages which will be presented to the patients on their individual birthdays, and hostesses and items of food for three picnics for the patients this summer. Organizations or individuals are invited to assist with these projects.

Tribunal Eyes Case of Judge Claimed Drunk while on Duty

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court heard pleas today for and against disbarment of a common pleas judge alleged to have been drunk on duty.

The high court did not indicate when it would hand down a decision on a recommendation of indefinite suspension for Paul G. Weber, 63, Stark County judge since 1947 and former five-term Canton city solicitor.

Supreme Court commissioners on grievances and discipline recommended the suspension on six of nine misconduct charges brought against Weber by the county bar association.

Climaxing the charges of appearing late for trials in an intoxicated condition over a period of years was the claim that Weber "made a shambles" of a Feb. 19, 1960, ceremony to swear in 21 new citizens.

Appearing for the judge at the Supreme Court hearing, Akron attorney D. Bruce Mansfield said that since that time Weber has rehabilitated himself. "In the intervening period," Mansfield said, "we are contending that whatever he was guilty of he has become rehabilitated and is rehabilitated now."

Appearing with Mansfield was another Akron attorney, Justin T. Rogers Jr.

But Canton attorney Samuel Kriegliak, appearing with five others for the bar association, said, "We feel this is not rehabilitation... to this time there has never been an apology to the association, the citizens or the public by this respondent (Weber). We say there has not been rehabilitation."

Mansfield said he was called into the case because he is a recovered alcoholic.

"To make a long story short," he said, "I sponsored Judge Weber in Alcoholics Anonymous. I say without fear of contradiction that, beginning Feb. 29, 1960, to this moment, Judge Weber has not had anything of an alcoholic nature."

Parked Panel Truck Is Reported Missing

James Hamilton, Grayson, Ky., told sheriff's deputies yesterday a truck left parked at a service station in Five Points two weeks ago was missing.

Hamilton said the green panel truck was gone when he returned here. Deputy Gene Kerns said tire tracks indicated the vehicle was driven toward Williamsport.

Coat Theft Probed By Circleville Police

Circleville Police this week investigated the theft of a coat at the American Hotel. The garment was later recovered.

Officers said the coat was taken from the upstairs while the owner, Thomas Lancaster, Newark, was in the lobby.

Sgt. Roderick List and Patrolmen Jay Curry said the coat was taken by a man identified as Grover Hennessy.

U.S. Education Overseas Hit

NEA Sees 'Neglect' In Government Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Education Association charged today that government neglect and broken promises are seriously affecting the education of the children of U.S. servicemen stationed abroad.

The NEA specifically cited what it called (1) inadequate teachers' salaries in all Department of Defense schools abroad and (2) inadequate facilities in schools operated by the military in Western Europe which have resulted in crowded classrooms and half-day sessions.

The Defense Department schools in 26 foreign countries enroll about 178,000 children from the 1st through the 12th grade, employ nearly 6,500 teachers and spend about $45 million a year.

The NEA said salary scales well below the U.S. standard have made it impossible for these schools to recruit enough experienced teachers.

As a result, it said, the schools are forced to employ "relatively inexperienced teachers of marginal ability and career interest, attracted chiefly by the lure of travel and the opportunity to live abroad for a year or two."

Other vacant teaching posts the NEA said, are filled by the wives of servicemen and local teachers not qualified to teach in their own countries.

A federal law passed in 1959 said the salaries of teachers hired for foreign service should be comparable to teachers' salaries in U.S. cities of 100,000 or more population.

"This formula has not been followed because the Defense Department insists funds are not available," the NEA said.

Prepaid tax receipts for the period from July 1, 1961, to the week ending March 17 are down $27,567.14 from a similar period last year, according to the State Treasurer's office.

This is a general trend throughout the state. Fayette county is the only county reporting an increase in tax receipts for the period.

Motor vehicle sales tax collections show a $7,704.85 decrease for the same period. But collections for the week show an increase over the same week last year.

Ex-Spy Chief Says Nixon Errs in Rap at Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Allen W. Dulles, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency, says Richard M. Nixon was in error when he charged that President Kennedy had been briefed during the 1960 campaign on Cuban invasion preparations.

Dulles said, however, he believed the charge—contained in Nixon's new book, "Six Crises"—was the result of "an honest misunderstanding."

Nixon contended Kennedy had been told the CIA was helping to train Cuban rebels for an invasion and had jeopardized the plan in campaign oratory.

The White House denied this Tuesday, saying Kennedy knew nothing of the invasion preparations until after he was elected and that Nixon's "account is apparently based on a misunderstanding."

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Dulles had twice briefed Kennedy during the presidential race but that the briefings consisted mainly of a broad review of the world situation.

In a memorandum Dulles said, "There has been here, I believe, an honest misunderstanding. This was probably due to the nature of the message Mr. Nixon writes he received as to these briefings. The Cuban situation was, of course, dealt with in the briefings I gave Sen. Kennedy."

"My briefings were intelligence briefings on the world situation. They did not cover our own government's plans or programs for action, overt or covert."

In Los Angeles, Nixon's office said it had no comment on the Dulles or White House statements.

Nixon, who now is a member of a Los Angeles law firm, is seeking the Republican nomination for governor of California.

In his book, the former vice president said Kennedy had forced him into a dilemma on Cuba during the campaign. This was, he said, the only time during the race he got angry at his rival.

Kennedy, said Nixon, called for action to "strengthen the non-Batista democratic anti-Castro forces in exile and in Cuba itself who offer eventual hope of overthrowing Castro."

He did this, Nixon contended, after having been briefed about the training of Cuban exiles.

Nixon said that Kennedy's call for stronger action put him on the spot and forced him to take a public stand at variance with his actual views because "the operation had to be protected at all."

Circleville Chapter Joins Observance Of DeMolay Week

The Circleville Chapter of DeMolay joined with other DeMolay groups in celebrating DeMolay Week.

On March 12 the local chapter initiated Bill Pritchard of Ashville and Steve Spires of Circleville into the organization.

An inspection and initiation was held on March 14. The event was honored with the presence of Howard Wellington, worshipful master of the Blue Lodge; Dick Calkins, state preceptor; Bob Reeves, master counselor of the Grove City Chapter and Don Dozer, master counselor of the Olympia Chapter.

The inspection officer was Dewey Sudduth, fourth district deputy from the International Supreme Council.

MEMBERS initiated at this meeting were Mansel Hurlburt III and Richard Lamb, both of Circleville. Master counselor Gary George presided.

The Circleville Chapter was assisted by the Grove City Chapter at the inspection. Members of the Grove City, Olympia, Bexley and Whitehall Chapters were present.

On Sunday morning the Chapter attended the worship services at the Emmanuel EUB Church, Georgia Road.

Confusion Is Rampant with Ohio Place Names

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"You can't tell a book by its cover," some wise old sage once said. But if that philosopher had had a map of Ohio in his hands instead of that book, that famous maxim might have come out: "You can't tell a city by its county."

Any newcomer to the state of Ohio who has tried to orientate himself by trying to establish a relationship between Buckeye-land's counties and its cities probably has ended up scratching his head in confusion, bought a map or state directory and confined the use of his memory to last year's batting averages.

A few examples will demonstrate why.

Down in southwestern Ohio, there's a good-sized city by the name of Hamilton. Also in that same southwestern Ohio lies one of the state's most populous counties—Hamilton County. But somehow Hamilton the city missed Hamilton the county and lies in the next county north, Butler County.

By the same token, Butler the city is located in Richland the county. Richland the city is in Logan the county and Logan the city is in Hocking County.

Anyone who made the mistake of looking for those communities by the names of the counties—a motorist, for example—would find himself traveling over nearly half the state, from the Ohio River to within 50 or 60 miles of Lake Erie.

This is merely one of innumerable instances of this incongruity apparent in Ohio—although an Ohio city may have the same name as an Ohio county, the chances are almost two to one that that city will be just about any place except in that county.

A few statistics:

Of the 88 counties in Ohio, according to Rand McNally—which makes it its business to know such things—41 share their names with communities, but not one of those 41 counties can claim its namesake (or namesakes) as its own.

At the same time, only 23 counties have their namesakes within their borders; and of those 23, one county has namesakes both within and beyond its borders (there's a Belmont, Ohio, in both Belmont County and Montgomery County).

These figures don't include derivatives of county names, and there is a myriad of them.

For instance, anyone who would hope to find Clark, Ohio, in Clark County would have no success at all. But he has plenty of choices elsewhere, with a Clark in Coshocton, Cuyahoga, Darke and Summit counties, plus seven derivatives: Clark Corners in Ashtabula County, Clarks in Geauga, Clarksburg in Ross, Clarksfield in Huron, Clarkson in Belmont and Columbiana, and Clarksville in Clinton County.

Some of the counties and their namesakes are very far-flung. Probably the farthest is Warren County and the city of Warren. Warren County, located in the southwestern corner of the state, is nearly 250 miles from Warren in Trumbull County, in northeastern Ohio.

Others aren't quite so far. Some adjacent counties seem to have merely traded city names. While there's no Erie in Erie County or Sandusky in Sandusky County, there's an Erie in Sandusky County and Sandusky is the county seat of Erie County.

Business News 3 Employees To Be Honored

Three Pickaway County residents have been invited to attend the Ohio Fuel Gas Company's Central Quarter Century Club banquet, honoring longtime employees at the Neil House in Columbus April 10. They are:

Frank Marion, 217 N. Scioto St., Circleville, an active employee, and Harry Metter, Circleville, and Frank Liston, Route 1, Orient, retired employees.

More than 400 long-time employees of Ohio Fuel are scheduled to attend the Central banquet. Similar dinners are held annually by Ohio Fuel in Oberlin, Lancaster, Dover, Toledo, Smithville, Steubenville and Ironton.

One of every six Ohio Fuel employees has been with the company 25 years or longer, officials reported.

Ohio Fuel's reputation is due in large part to long-time employees who live in the communities they serve, Allan W. Lundstrum, president of Ohio Fuel, said in discussing plans for the banquet.

The Little and Great Miami rivers have given their names to several communities in the Buckeye State, but none are situated in Miami County. There are Miamis in Hamilton and Lucas counties, Miami City Junction and Miamisburg in Montgomery County, Miami Grove and Miamitown in Hamilton County and Miami-ville in Clermont County.

Franklin County mothers Ohio's capital city, but you have to go to Warren and Williams counties to find its namesakes.

The county that probably gives its name to the most communities is Greene County in central Ohio. There's a Greene in Trumbull County, Greenbrier (Monroe), Greenbush (Preble and Brown), Green Camp (Marion), Greencastle (Fairfield), Greendale (Hocking), Greenfield (Highland), Greenford (Mahoning), Greenhills (Hamilton), Greenland (Ross), Green Lawn (Franklin), Greensburg (Summit), Green Springs (Seneca and Sandusky), Green-town (Stark), Greenville (Darke) and Greenwich (Huron). But Green County itself is devoid of the name.

To give credit where credit is due, the 23 counties which can claim namesake are: Ashland, Ashtabula, Athens, Belmont, Columbiana, Coshocton, Defiance, Delaware, Gallia, Guernsey, Highland, Jackson, Knox, Lawrence, Lorain, Marion, Medina, Mercer, Muskingum, Paulding, Tuscarawas Van Wert and Wyandot. As for the prodigals, who or what is to blame? In one case there's an indication of frustrated romance: In the northwestern corner of Ohio lies Henry County; more than a hundred miles to the east, in Lorain County, is none other than Henrietta.

As for the rest, some might say it happened when the counties were named, others when the cities were christened.

But as another wise old sage once pondered: Which came first, the chicken or the egg?

3 Boys May Escape Painful Robies Shots

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Two beagles that bit three Boy Scouts at Van Buren Lake State Park have been turned over to Hancock County health authorities.

Preliminary observation by a veterinarian indicated the dogs probably are not rabid, and the three 11-year-old Findlay boys likely won't have to undergo anti-rabies shots as was first feared.

All the clocks at the Naval Observatory in Washington show Greenwich Mean Time, which is five hours ahead of Eastern Standard Time.

Honeymooning Socialite's Death Probed

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) —Authorities today studied a report on a second autopsy on the body of the former Mrs. Lucille Rogers, a New York and Kansas City, Mo., socialite who died on her honeymoon here last week. The report was not disclosed.

Her new husband was being held without charges by Haitian authorities pending the outcome of an investigation. He has identified himself as Dr. Manfred Von Linde, a German count.

The University of Louisville, Ky., Medical School said it had an alumnus by that name on its rolls. But it said it was a name legally assumed in 1954 by Robert Emory Dent, who was graduated in 1947. It said Dent notified the school of the name change from Detroit.

Her husband said he found the 52-year-old socialite dead in their room last Wednesday when he returned from a walk. The U.S. Embassy said she had died of a heart attack and was buried within the next 24 hours in accordance with Haitian regulations, in a grave 200 miles from this capital.

A second autopsy was ordered, however, after members of her family asked for a new investigation into her death.

Atty. Charles Emmett Jr. flew here from New York to represent the handsome plastic surgeon, 38, who was being held in the Port au Prince Prison but eating meals sent in from the hotel where he and his wife had stayed.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

The low pressure area which produced some heavy rains in Ohio Wednesday moved to the New England coast this morning. However, light northeasterly winds picked up moisture from Lake Erie, which is now in the spring thaw, and consequently skies remained cloudy.

Fog and mist were associated with the cloudiness.

With the influx of cooler Canadian air, temperatures gradually lowered, ranging by daybreak today from 39 at Marietta to 33 at Cleveland. Columbus reported 34 and Cincinnati 37.

No sunshine will be seen in Ohio this morning, but the sun will attempt an appearance in the afternoon. Temperatures will rise to the 40s by mid-day.

what is to blame? In one case there's an indication of frustrated romance: In the northwestern corner of Ohio lies Henry County; more than a hundred miles to the east, in Lorain County, is none other than Henrietta.

As for the rest, some might say it happened when the counties were named, others when the cities were christened.

But as another wise old sage once pondered: Which came first, the chicken or the egg?

3 Boys May Escape Painful Rabies Shots

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Two beagles that bit three Boy Scouts at Van Buren Lake State Park have been turned over to Hancock County health authorities.

Preliminary observation by a veterinarian indicated the dogs probably are not rabid, and the three 11-year-old Findlay boys likely won't have to undergo anti-rabies shots as was first feared.

Kibitzers at Geneva

Secretary of State Rusk terms the disarmament talks now under way in Switzerland "one of the most important negotiations we have been involved in for a long time." But negotiations are important only if they have constructive results. And all the omens are unfavorable.

The Geneva conference does feature a new experiment — the participation of eight more or less neutral countries. Khrushchev has said many times in many ways that it is unrealistic for small, weak nations to expect to share in decisions on disputes between the great powers. Why, then, did he insist on inviting these eight kibitzers to the negotiating table?

For either or both of two reasons: first, to make a propaganda effort to convince the neutrals that Russia wants disarmament and peace and the United States wants an arms race and war; second, to induce the neutrals to press the West to accept disarmament on his terms.

There is no indication whatsoever that he is prepared to give a single centimeter on any substantive issue.

It will be interesting to see whether the neutrals will prove such complaisant tools as he seems to expect. He wants eventually to "bury" them, too.

Indeed, his present enmity toward the United States, like the bolsheviks' prewar designation of Britain as Enemy No. 1, stems largely from the fact that the United States now has become the greatest obstacle to Russia's expansionist ambitions. This alone is enough to make neutrals who understand where their own interests lie unwilling to press the United States to accept one-sided disarmament arrangements.

It is not always clear, unfortunately, that neutrals understand this fact and appraise their own interests correctly. But if they fail to recognize which side threatens them, or to understand the implacable intensity of that threat, their neutralism is more doctrinaire than realistic.

What was set up as an 18-nation conference got under way as a 17-nation affair. France withdrew, convinced that the conference is incapable of accomplishing anything. This left the West outnumbered 5 to 4 by communist nations, but this shouldn't matter. The conference seems certain to become a sterile talkfest designed primarily to promote Soviet aims, and the West can counter this well enough in English.

A List of Conversationalists

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Whom would you most enjoy sharing your insomnia with? Or being caught with in a traffic jam?

It used to be a popular parlor conversational gambit a generation ago to discuss the question, "If you were a castaway on an island, what five persons in all history would you prefer to have as companions?"

Some time later a variant of this game developed: "What five living people would you choose last as companions on such an occasion?"

The fashionable wisecrack answer was: "Elsa Maxwell, the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, and any two of their friends." The idea seemed to be that a modern Robinson Crusoe wouldn't find them of much real help in building up a desert island from scratch.

Well, even the island called Manhattan can be a bit lonely (if not downright uninhabitable) at times. Two of the dullest times are when you have insomnia, or are stuck alone in a cab during a hopeless traffic jam.

The other evening, bored with sleeplessness during a bout with a large sore throat and a small fever, I fell to brooding over that old parlor game.

What five or ten people in all history would be most entertaining to have around in periods of boredom or insomnia?

Well, the choices are endlessly fascinating, and I made so many switches it was dawn before I had finished my list.

Naturally, I started off with my wife, Frances, and since two married couples make for better company, I promptly added Adam and Eve. Everyone is naturally curious about how life was in the old days, and I'd give anything to hear Eve's version of what happened in Eden.

Then I picked Helen of Troy and Cleopatra, the two feminine trouble-making beauties who have perhaps most stirred men's dreams.

Next I decided on three trouble-making, civilization shakers—Julius Caesar, Napoleon Bonaparte and hated Adolf Hitler.

And to more than balance that warring trio, I added four of the wisest men who ever lived—Socrates, Jesus of Nazareth, Confucius and Voltaire, each of whom had a different insight into the human soul.

For further spice I put in Sam Johnson, the world's greatest conversationalist, and three moderns—poet Robert Frost, mystery writer Mickey Spillane, and Toots Shor, who could settle any arguments that might arise over Babe Ruth's batting records and similar high-level quarrels.

But no group is altogether congenial without some singers. So I tossed in three that entertained millions—John McCormack, Enrico Caruso and Al Jolson.

Well, instead of five or ten, I wound up with a list of 19—and I still had left off a ragtime piano player, which you really need at any good informal get-together.

The Right To Be Stupid

By George Sokolsky

One of the curiosities of a free society is that a human being is entitled to exhibit his stupidities as long as his conduct does not produce violence in or upon others.

In a word, a man may say that he hates me, but he must not show his hatred by an act of force or violence. So, I have a letter from one who is apparently a European in origin, who living here, cannot understand our ways. The writer has this to say:

"... I must appeal to you to explain the daring and offensive situation of (George Lincoln) Rockwell, head of the American Nazi Party, being allowed to speak on April 20th right in New York City. I have tried to understand democracy and freedom of speech in the United States, but on the one hand we fought to destroy the ideals of Nazism and on the other hand permission is granted by the U. S. Supreme Court for Rockwell to speak to arouse hatred and violence, that is beyond my comprehension."

As long as Rockwell limits himself to talking, he is well within his rights. Nazism is abhorrent to most Americans, as Communism is offensive to them. But we have not yet reached the degradation of our history that we fear such disruptions, and they are not rare in our history.

It is different from the situation in Germany when Hitler arose, Germany was a conquered country; the Germans a proud people brought to heel by the fortunes of war. Not only was the economy of Germany broken but the spirit of the nation suffered from defeat. Hitler, by impudence and to a degree by realizing that other countries were in equal difficulties, offered Germany hope and reconstruction.

Hitler made two tragic mistakes which are not unusual for dictators whose self-will grows beyond their purposes and capacity. His diversion from political action to anti-Semitism and the revival of Teutonic paganism was inevitable, arising from his political need to be recognized as a man-god. Napoleon was smarter; he went about his business of plundering and reconstruction without becoming involved in religious matters and in the inhumanities which before Hitler had weakened the Spain of Ferdinand and Isabella. Just as Hitler pursued the concepts of Houston Stewart Chamberlain on the subject of Aryanism, so Isabella permitted Torquemada to ruin Spain in an effort to establish a monolithic empire. Khrushchev is trying that now in the Soviet Universal State, but with surprisingly little success.

Hitler's second error was to tease the United States into coming to the rescue of the European nations and Russia and China. Hitler's intelligence must have been surprisingly poor. He never understood the American people at all.

He read numerous attacks on the President and assumed that they represented resistance to war. He noted that he could buy persons here to conduct anti-Semitic campaigns and some did it of their free will, but he did not realize that in war all Americans, whatever color or creed, go into the trenches and fight for Old Glory even if they oppose the war.

So, my correspondent can be sure that Rockwell can go on making speeches and that his opponents will make speeches, and maybe there will be rotten eggs and spoiled tomatoes and a few fist fights, but mostly we shall laugh. To most Americans, he looks like a funny man and what he says does not fit any situation in this country.

His kind of exhibitionism makes very little impression upon our people, just as all movements of hate are offensive to our people who generally get along with any to marry them. It is only necessary that we respect their rights under the law and that they respect our rights.

The writer finds it difficult to understand democracy. I would suggest that it not be tried. The word, democracy, is very confusing and should be used most precisely. It is better to describe our country as one in which the rights of the individual man are greater than the rights of government, and one of those rights is to be ridiculous, so long as it does not hurt anybody. Let Rockwell talk! If he gets tough, our police will know what to do.

Fibroid tumors of the womb:

1. Prefer women who haven't had babies. T—F—
2. Usually cause bleeding. T—F—
3. Need no treatment when they're small and symptom-free. T—F—
4. Call for womb-removing surgery. T—F—
5. Melt away after the change of life. T—F—

1. True. Between each menstrual flow, female hormones may whip up whirling activity in the womb wall. Muscle cells and connecting fibers tangle and twist, weaving the seeds of fibroid tumors before you reach the mid-thirties. Once planted, these seeds continue to grow.

Hotel Guest For 76 Years Dies at 96

ST. MARYS, Ohio (AP)—John W. Graetz, who may have been the longest continuous hotel guest in the nation, died Wednesday at the age of 96.

His home was the Fort Barbee Hotel from the time it opened as the Fountain Hotel—so named because of a spring in the basement which supplied all water needs—74 years ago.

Graetz, a bachelor and retired confectioner, came here with his father, a Lutheran minister, in 1879 and remained to work as a store clerk when the father moved on several years later.

Graetz became a guest, paying $3.50 a week for board and room out of his $9 a week salary, when the hotel opened in 1889.

A familiar, slender, wiry figure who smoked black cigars, he retired in 1921 but continued an avid sports follower, especially of football and baseball, to the end.

He was St. Marys High School's most enthusiastic fan, attending all games, home and away, until failing health cut short his activities last October. He had been a patient at Joint Township Hospital here since then.

His only survivors are a brother, William, of Sandusky, and several nieces and nephews.

Fibroid — suffers often want babies but can't seem to have any. Pregnancy hormone changes don't stimulate fibroid growth. The question: Which comes first — the fibroid or the egg cell?

2. False. Bleeding is often blamed on innocent fibroids. Growing tumors do stretch womb lining, increasing menstrual flow. Pressing inwards, fibroids may grind into this lining until internal bedsores bleed.

And yet, most bleeding stems from overenthusiastic womb lining, whipped on by those same female hormones that start fibroids. A special examination can tell.

3. True — except for fibroids low down near the womb entrance. They may block Baby's exit. These tumors usually press against nearby organs, causing pain or bathroom problems.

4. False. If you haven't finished building your family, the surgeon can remove only the tumor. If you have a full brood, he'd rather whisk out both fibroid and womb — it might become cancerous later. If an operation is impossible, X-rays can dry up hormone production in nearby ovaries.

5. True. Only a few go on to cause pain, bleeding and other serious trouble. Most melt away when ovaries stop producing female hormones. If you're nearing the change, wait and watch! Even large fibroids shrink.

Old fibroids never die — but they do fade away!

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Are you thinking of buying a home this spring? A lot of people would like to know. And an increasing number are afraid not enough of you are to make life glow for builders, appliance makers and dealers, home furnishers, the various utilities and the mortgage lenders.

A consumer intention survey by the University of Michigan's survey research center says fewer persons than in any of the last three years are planning to buy a home this year. But those who are have set their sights on a more expensive one than in the preceding years.

The government says that new housing construction in February fell 2 per cent below a year ago and on a seasonally adjusted basis was the lowest for any month since December 1960.

Mortgage bankers report that lack of demand is weakening interest rates in many sections of the nation. They also report the number of foreclosures rose to 72,000 in 1961, the highest since 1940. The rate, however, is less disturbing because there are more mortgages now than then. The 1961 rate is 3.3 foreclosures for each 1,000 mortgages.

Diehard optimists stress that housing starts usually drop in late winter, and weather this year has been particularly nasty in many sections of the nation. They hope that spring will revive the home building industry on schedule. The Commerce Department still sticks, at least officially, to its forecast that private housing starts this year will reach 1.4 million units, up 100,000 from 1961.

The chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, Joseph P. McMurray, notes an offsetting factor to the slump in building of one family homes. He stresses the steady rise in the demand for apartments. He says:

"As our population has aged, many people have surrendered the amenities of a single family dwelling suitable for a younger family for a new bundle of advantages available in apartment houses. Also, young couples prefer to get their start in an apartment unit. We anticipate that in a few years when marriage rates are again on the rise the demand for apartment units will be even greater."

The marriage rate cycle is one reason given for the slackening demand for houses. Those of an age to move from bridal apartment to the house for a growing family belong to the depressed baby crops of the troubled 1930s. The big war and postwar crops have yet to reach the home-buying age.

75 Groups Plan Anti-Red Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) —Representatives from about 75 conservative, anti-Communist groups meeting here have endorsed a coordinated movement, the Rev. Billy James Hargis reports.

Formation of a third party was discouraged but all-out support of conservative candidates in either party was encouraged, he said.

It was decided to inspire a letter and telegram campaign to the attorney general to demand he "enforce the law of the land" on getting the Communists and Communist party to register, he said.

It also was decided to support legislation for U.S. withdrawal from the United Nations, he said, adding that it was apparent the U.N. had not and cannot suppress Communist aggression.

Hargis, a radio and television evangelist from Tulsa, Okla., held a news conference to report on Tuesday night's closed meeting. He said he had sent invitations to 100 organizations to send representatives to the meeting.

They endorsed the coordinating

Questions of interest to ex-servicemen should be given to Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer, James Shea. His office is in the basement of the Courthouse.

Q-I have participating GI insurance. When may I expect to get my 1962 dividend payment? A-The VA is paying the 1962 insurance dividend on the anniversary date of each policy, that is, on the date the policy became effective.

Q-Does marriage bar an otherwise eligible child of a deceased veteran from the War Orphans Education program? A-No it does not. The child is still considered an "orphan" for all purposes of the program until age 23, and in certain cases, after that age.

Q-Is it still possible for a World War II veteran to enter on a course of education or vocational training through the VA? A-Sorry, the GI Bill of Rights which provided that education or training for World War II veteran has expired and the program is completed.

Q-How can an orphan child of a dead peacetime veteran qualify for educational benefits under the War Orphans Educational Assistance Program? A-If a serviceman dies as the result of illness or injuries incurred in extra-hazardous duty during his peacetime service, his children become eligible for all the provisions of the War Orphans Education Assistance Act.

Q-If a veteran names his mother as the beneficiary of his GI insurance policy and then marries, is his wife protected? A-Unless the veteran notifies the VA that he desires to change his beneficiary from his mother to his wife, the wife is not protected.

Q-Are peacetime disability compensation payments the same as those received by wartime veterans? A-Peacetime disability compensation rates are paid at 80 percent of the corresponding wartime rates.

Ohio Nursing Home Training Expanded

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Ralph E. Dwork, state health director, said the state health department is expanding its training courses for nursing home personnel this year.

Classes for nursing home personnel currently are under way in Columbus, Newark, Xenia, Marietta, Wapakoneta, Coshocton, Millersburg, Wooster, Mansfield and Akron.

Additional courses are to start next week in Delaware and Mount Vernon. The classes are set up in cooperation with local health departments. Rehabilitative techniques are taught by trained physical and occupational therapists.

movement, he said, "but that does not mean they endorsed each other." He added that there were some rugged individualists in the various groups. But all the groups, he said, were in agreement on one thing, "and that's to try to do something about the threat of Communism internally."

Hargis said the meeting decided to set up a steering committee with one representative from each group and with Edward Hunter, a writer and lecturer, as chairman.

Other decisions he reported: To hold the meetings every three months in Washington, with the next one in June, when there will be an attempt to get congressmen to attend. Hargis said Reps. John H. Roussetot, R-Calif., and E. Y. Berry, R-S.D., addressed the Tuesday meeting. In reply to a question, Hargis estimated there are 50 members of Congress "that would associate with an effort like this."

To make future meetings by invitation and have closed meetings so the list can be screened. He said he was concerned about groups with harmful views such as anti-Semitism getting in.

Hargis listed those named to the steering committee as ex-Communist Benjamin Gitlow; retired Brig. Gen. Bonner Fellers and Maj. Gen. Charles Willoughby, both formerly with Gen. Douglas MacArthur; Hunter and Roussetot.

PUCO Aide Eyes Private Water Line

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—An examiner for the Ohio Public Utilities Commission heard charges at a public hearing Tuesday that a water line was being used by its owner to force a portion of Elyria Twp. to annex itself to the city of Elyria.

Albert G. Huffman of Elyria owns the 5,000-foot line which serves 60 persons on Griswold Road, immediately beyond Elyria's corporate limits. The hearing was before James E. Davis to determine whether Huffman's line is a public utility and thus subject to PUCO regulations.

Huffman contends it is private property and he can charge consumers tapped into it anything he wants. He bought the line for $1500 at auction last October from the Elyria Board of Education, which abandoned it when it was no longer needed to serve a school.

Two months later, Huffman demanded a $100 service fee from each of the consumers on his line and advised them there would be further charges. They refused to pay. Township trustees asked the PUCO to investigate.

Under questioning by John Gallagher, attorney for the trustees, Huffman said Wade Worcester has been active in a movement to annex the township to Elyria. Huffman denied, however, that his effort to collect the $100 fee was a device to force annexation. Consumers on Huffman's line pay the city of Elyria for the water they use. The examiner said a decision on whether Huffman's water line is subject to PUCO regulations would be given in about two months.

1943 Documents Critical of Chiang

WASHINGTON (AP) — Documents voicing criticism of the war effort of Nationalist Chinese President Chiang Kai-shek are among the long secret China papers of 1943 released by the State Department.

The 901-page collection also includes a 1943 report to President Franklin D. Roosevelt by Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, who had gone on a special mission to China where he talked with Chiang and U.S. and Chinese military leaders.

Officials said publication of the World War II papers was held up for at least five years because their release might prove offensive to Chiang, now on Formosa.

Although there was no immediate official comment from Formosa on the papers, made public Tuesday night, some Chinese Nationalists questioned the wisdom

New Education Cabinet-Level Agency Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Abraham Ribicoff, secretary of health, education and welfare, wants all federal education activities consolidated in a new cabinet-level department.

"In my opinion education is power," said Ribicoff. "I think in this respect the Soviet Union has recognized this a lot better than we have."

Ribicoff, testifying recently before a House Appropriations subcommittee, said a minimum of 60,000 boys or girls in the upper third of their high school graduating classes don't get to college because they can't afford it. Another 60,000 students with good grades drop out of college every year because they don't have the money to continue, he added.

"I don't think we can afford it," he told the committee. "I for one think we can do a better job."

He told the subcommittee he would press for creation of a Department of Education, Science and Technology, headed by a secretary.

Ribicoff's department now supervises the Office of Education, which was criticized several years ago by Vice Adm. Hyman Rickover, who made a comparison of United States and Russian educational programs.

Prominent Chinese newsmen in Taipei said they thought it unwise to release the papers at a time when the Chinese Nationalists are talking of a comeback against Communist China.

U.S. Ambassador Everett F. Drumright has resigned and returned home from Formosa for undisclosed reasons, but presumably due to opposition to release of the papers.

Hurley's report said that on the whole, Chiang and the Chinese people favor democracy and would follow Roosevelt's leadership. But, he said, the Chinese central government gave importance to "conserving its strength for maintenance of its postwar internal supremacy as against the more immediate objective of defeating Japan."

Hurley was mentioned during hearings of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., when it was charged that the State Department and some of its representatives in China during World War II had been responsible for withholding aid and handing China over to the Communists.

In August 1944, Hurley became

Roosevelt's personal representative in China and in December of that year he became U.S. ambassador there.

Chiang's policies were criticized directly by John Patton Davies Jr., a diplomat fired by the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in 1954 on grounds that he lacked "judgment, discretion and reliability."

Davies, who said on his dismissal that he would be "content to let history be my judge," told U.S. Ambassador to China Clarence E. Gauss in a March 9, 1943 memorandum:

"China's policy is to remain technically in the war so as to be able to sit at the peace table as a 'fighting' ally, to expend as little of its strength as possible and to rely on other members of the United Nations—primarily the United States—to defeat Japan."

George Acheson, in charge of the U.S. Embassy in Chungking during the absence of Ambassador Gauss, warned in August 1943 that the possibility of some kind of compromise between China and Japan could not be completely disregarded.

He said this was "because of anti-Western bias of the generalissimo, Madame Chiang and a widespread suspicion in Chinese government circles that Great Britain will not, after the crushing of Germany, devote her naval and other resources wholeheartedly to the defeat of Japan, thus making a compromise peace between the Anglo-American allies and Japan probable."

The officers rushed to a darkened section along the U. S.-Mexico border after a report of strange noises in the area.

They found a cardboard box that had been pushed underneath the international fence from the Mexican to the Arizona side.

In the carton were three pup-

75 Groups Plan Anti-Red Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representatives from about 75 conservative, anti-Communist groups meeting here have endorsed a coordinated movement, the Rev. Billy James Hargis reports.

Formation of a third party was discouraged but all-out support of conservative candidates in either party was encouraged, he said.

It was decided to inspire a letter and telegram campaign to the attorney general to demand he "enforce the law of the land" on getting the Communists and Communist party to register, he said.

It also was decided to support legislation for U.S. withdrawal from the United Nations, he said, adding that it was apparent the U.N. had not and cannot suppress Communist aggression.

Hargis, a radio and television evangelist from Tulsa, Okla., held a news conference to report on Tuesday night's closed meeting. He said he had sent invitations to 100 organizations to send representatives to the meeting.

They endorsed the coordinating movement, he said, "but that does not mean they endorsed each other." He added that there were some rugged individualists in the various groups. But all the groups, he said, were in agreement on one thing, "and that's to try to do something about the threat of Communism internally."

Hargis said the meeting decided to set up a steering committee with one representative from each group and with Edward Hunter, a writer and lecturer, as chairman.

Other decisions he reported: To hold the meetings every three months in Washington, with the next one in June, when there will be an attempt to get congressmen to attend. Hargis said Reps. John H. Roussetot, R-Calif., and E. Y. Berry, R-S.D., addressed the Tuesday meeting. In reply to a question, Hargis estimated there are 50 members of Congress "that would associate with an effort like this."

To make future meetings by invitation and have closed meetings so the list can be screened. He said he was concerned about groups with harmful views such as anti-Semitism getting in.

Hargis listed those named to the steering committee as ex-Communist Benjamin Gitlow; retired Brig. Gen. Bonner Fellers and Maj. Gen. Charles Willoughby, both formerly with Gen. Douglas MacArthur; Hunter and Roussetot.

PUCO Aide Eyes Private Water Line

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—An examiner for the Ohio Public Utilities Commission heard charges at a public hearing Tuesday that a water line was being used by its owner to force a portion of Elyria Twp. to annex itself to the city of Elyria.

Albert G. Huffman of Elyria owns the 5,000-foot line which serves 60 persons on Griswold Road, immediately beyond Elyria's corporate limits. The hearing was before James E. Davis to determine whether Huffman's line is a public utility and thus subject to PUCO regulations.

Huffman contends it is private property and he can charge consumers tapped into it anything he wants. He bought the line for $1500 at auction last October from the Elyria Board of Education, which abandoned it when it was no longer needed to serve a school.

Two months later, Huffman demanded a $100 service fee from each of the consumers on his line and advised them there would be further charges. They refused to pay. Township trustees asked the PUCO to investigate.

Under questioning by John Gallagher, attorney for the trustees, Huffman said Wade Worcester was associated with him in the purchase of the line. Worcester has been active in a movement to annex the township to Elyria.

Huffman denied, however, that his effort to collect the $100 fee was a device to force annexation.

Consumers on Huffman's line pay the city of Elyria for the water they use. The examiner said a decision on whether Huffman's water line is subject to PUCO regulations would be given in about two months.

1943 Documents Critical of Chiang

WASHINGTON (AP)—Documents voicing criticism of the war effort of Nationalist Chinese President Chiang Kai-shek are among the long secret China papers of 1943 released by the State Department.

The 901-page collection also includes a 1943 report to President Franklin D. Roosevelt by Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, who had gone on a special mission to China where he talked with Chiang and U.S. and Chinese military leaders.

Officials said publication of the World War II papers was held up for at least five years because their release might prove offensive to Chiang, now on Formosa.

Although there was no immediate official comment from Formosa on the papers, made public Tuesday night, some Chinese Nationalists questioned the wisdom

New Education Cabinet-Level Agency Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Abraham Ribicoff, secretary of health, education and welfare, wants all federal education activities consolidated in a new cabinet-level department.

"In my opinion education is power," said Ribicoff. "I think in this respect the Soviet Union has recognized this a lot better than we have."

Ribicoff, testifying recently before a House Appropriations subcommittee, said a minimum of 60,000 boys or girls in the upper third of their high school graduating classes don't get to college because they can't afford it. Another 60,000 students with good grades drop out of college every year because they don't have the money to continue, he added.

Continuing claims of those unemployed one week or more also declined, from 126,372 recorded in the week ended March 10 to 124,795 in the week ended March 17. In March of last year there was an average of 224,440 continuing claims on file each week.

This Is What District Vets Want To Know

Questions of interest to ex-servicemen should be given to Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer, James Shea. His office is in the basement of the Courthouse.

Q-I have participating GI insurance. When may I expect to get my 1962 dividend payment? A-The VA is paying the 1962 insurance dividend on the anniversary date of each policy, that is, on the date the policy became effective.

Q-Does marriage bar an otherwise eligible child of a deceased veteran from the War Orphans Education program? A-No it does not. The child is still considered an "orphan" for all purposes of the program until age 23, and in certain cases, after that age.

Q-Is it still possible for a World War II veteran to enter on a course of education or vocational training through the VA? A-Sorry, the GI Bill of Rights which provided that education or training for World War II veteran has expired and the program is completed.

Q-How can an orphan child of a dead peacetime veteran qualify for educational benefits under the War Orphans Educational Assistance Program? A-If a serviceman dies as the result of illness or injuries incurred in extra-hazardous duty during his peacetime service, his children become eligible for all the provisions of the War Orphans Education Assistance Act.

Q-If a veteran names his mother as the beneficiary of his GI insurance policy and then marries, is his wife protected? A-Unless the veteran notifies the VA that he desires to change his beneficiary from his mother to his wife, the wife is not protected.

Q-Are peacetime disability compensation payments the same as those received by wartime veterans? A-Peacetime disability compensation rates are paid at 80 per cent of the corresponding wartime rates.

Nuts are best kept in airtight containers in the refrigerator. Because of their high fat content, they get rancid quickly in room temperature. Unshelled, unsalted nuts keep best.

Men like these: Onion sandwiches. Use buttered thinly sliced white bread and paper-thin slices of Spanish onion. Mayonnaise and minced parsley can go along with the onion filling. Don't forget to sprinkle the onions with salt.

Here's a quick way to prepare apples to be used in a salad. Use unpared red eating apples; core and cut into rings; stack the rings and cut into small fan-shaped pieces.

Ohio Liquor Control Panel Is Revamped

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Emergency" reorganization of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control is in effect, its permanence to be decided within 60 days.

A proclamation by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle Wednesday made the new set-up effective at once, but it is subject to formalization by the secretary of state and to a public hearing on the proposed changes.

The reorganization makes Ivan W. Smith, heretofore enforcement chief for the department, a deputy director and automatically in line for the top post should Director George R. Dick leave.

The former post of assistant liquor director is abolished and two deputy directors designated. Smith's new title is deputy director in charge of control, while E. Norris Ecker becomes director in charge of merchandising. The control chief assumes the department director's post in any case of vacancy.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Lindsey, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Runkle and Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Rockey.

The tea was under the direction of Mrs. Donald Flierl, assisted by Mrs. Frank Hudson, Mrs. Emerson Dum, Mrs. Jennie Russell, Mrs. Orlan Hines and other members.

The general committee, working with Pastor Gruenberg, was Mrs. Felix Dore, Mrs. Roger Hedges, Mr. Eugene Wilson, Mr. Emerson Dum and Mr. Richard Peters.

Letters of congratulations from members and pastors unable to attend and pictures of many past events were displayed on the bulletin board.

CONVENIENCE—Among the designs for convenience highlighting the Texas Fashion Creators Association spring showing in Dallas is this one-piece sheath dress featuring permanent pleats that can be shortened with a snap of the scissors and no hemming. John Jennings, president of Brogan and Jennings, creators of the dress, demonstrates. The dress is made of a woven synthetic crepe which "absolutely will not ravel when cut."

Dear Abby:

by Abigail Van Buren

It's Twice as Difficult, Now!

DEAR ABBY: I am 22, have been married twice and am still in love with my first husband. We had two children. He loves us and wants us back. We were divorced over a silly argument. We both got stubborn and, before we realized it, the divorce went through.

I married my second husband in a hurry to show my first husband I could still get a man. I am not in love with my second husband. He is younger than I. I guess we were both lonely.

Abby, I would give anything in the world to be back with my first husband, raising our children together. Is there any way out of this mess?

SORRY NOW

DEAR SORRY: A woman who pulls wedding rings off, and replaces them nonchalantly, doesn't deserve to be rescued from a mess of her own making. Talk it over with your second husband. He is probably also aware that your marriage to him was a hasty mistake, and will agree to free you. Then you may attempt to pick up the pieces of your shattered first marriage.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Take a tip from the calendar and put a spring in your step—and your menus—when touring supermarkets this weekend.
Spring lambs and spring fryers are attractive buys in many shops and this is also the season for dairy foods, eggs and pork products.
With fryers, poultry counters also feature broilers, stewing hens and turkeys. Freezer owners will be wise to buy and store turkeys in light of growing evidence that recent low prices won't last.

Pork buys include the traditional spring hams, plus roasts, chops and bacon.
At beef trays, chuck cuts seem to be the most generally attractive.
Lenten meal planners will again find good main course possibilities at fish and seafood departments.
In the Northeast, best buys include clams, oysters, halibut and smelt.
In the Southeast, look for mullet, Spanish mackerel, whiting and sea trout.
Midwesterners will find ample supplies of lake herring, clams, halibut, yellow perch, salmon and smelt.
In the Southwest, features include catfish, red snapper, crab meat, whiting and shrimp.
Westerners can look to rock fish, salmon, spiny lobsters, halibut and dungeness crabs.
Potatoes are still a good buy and carrots, mixed greens, lettuce, onions, peppers and tomatoes are generally featured.
Among fruits, the best buys are still apples, avocados, grapefruit, lemons and oranges.

Hotel Men In Cleveland Suffer Slump

CLEVELAND (AP)—Hotel men in Cleveland say their business is in a more serious slump than during the depression and that the percentage of rooms occupied is lower than in any major city in the country.
Hardest hit by the slump are the seven downtown hotels, which averaged only 54.2 per cent occupancy last year. The information comes from Ernest Wunderly, a resident partner in Horwath & Horwath, one of the two largest accounting firms in the nation dealing with hotels, clubs and restaurants.

He said Tuesday Cleveland's peak year was 1946 when 95 per cent of the hotel rooms were occupied.
William T. Lanham, a past president of the Cleveland Hotel Association and manager of Hotel Auditorium, said Cleveland is headed for the lowest spot of major cities for the third year in a row.
Gene Bostrom, new president of the association and manager of Hotel Hopkins at the airport, said gave two reasons for the decline in hotel guests.
"Historically, the hotel business is one of the last to feel a depression or recession and is one of the last to recover," he asserted. "And there has been a tremendous number of new units built, whether you call them hotels, motor hotels or inns."

Dayton Industry Busy On Pollution Cleanup
DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Dayton industry ranked fifth in the nation in industrial spending for air pollution control in 1960-61 Charles Howison, secretary of the Air Pollution Control League of Cincinnati told officials Wednesday night. Dayton industry's cleanup bill ran to $1.2 million over the last two years, Howison said in presenting an award.

Fourth Famed Name Added As Candidate

BOSTON (AP)—Another famed name has been added to the star-studded cast seeking a U.S. Senate seat from Massachusetts.
The latest candidate is Harvard history professor H. Stuart Hughes, 45, grandson of the late Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes.
Hughes said he will announce his candidacy next week as an independent.
His grandfather was the Republican nominee for president in 1916. Prof. Hughes said he "had been a Republican but more Democrat than anything else."

In the race for the Democratic nomination are Edward M. Kennedy, the President's youngest brother, and Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack, nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass.
George Cabot Lodge, son of former United Nations Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, is seeking the Republican nomination as is U.S. Rep. Lawrence Curtis.
Hughes said he hopes to make his candidacy a forum for his views on world disarmament and peace.
"I believe in the United States taking independent steps to disarmament and peace," he said.
Hughes, a native of New York, is a 1937 graduate of Amherst College. He earned master and doctor degrees at Harvard.

WASHINGTON (AP)—If President Kennedy were a traffic cop, there'd be no head-on crashes at his corner, at least head on into him.
After 14 months in office he's a firm believer that a soft answer turneth away wrath and that grievous words stir up anger.
He uses the soft, and avoids the grievous, particularly with people with whom he has to keep on doing business.

In this year alone a number of people have headed straight for him, but he has managed to defuse them without using a black jack.
One was New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller who, like the very conservative Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, is a possible Republican presidential candidate in 1964.

Rockefeller accused Kennedy of political fakery when the President said he'd like to have a Negro. Robert C. Weaver, head up a proposed department of urban affairs and housing.
Kennedy was asked about the governor's crack at his next news conference. He could have gotten into a shouting match with the governor. But he brushed him aside. He said he had heard nobody could get to the right of Goldwater but now he doubted it.

Next came the highly conservative Sen. Strom Thurmond, South Carolina Democrat, who went after the Kennedy administration for censoring military officers' speeches and forced a Senate investigation.

It was just at the time Kennedy, rejecting Soviet Premier Khrushchev's bid for a summit meeting at the disarmament conference, said things ought to be worked out first at a lower level by foreign ministers.

At his next news conference a reporter, noting it was Valentine's Day, asked Kennedy about having a "heart-to-heart" talk with Thurmond who had called his foreign policy defeatist.

Kennedy, instead of giving Thurmond what-for, grinned and suggested a meeting with the senator should first be arranged at a "lower level." Not long afterward Thurmond excitement about censorship melted away.

This week the President and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who bumped heads in the 1960 presidential race, tangled again. Nixon started the tangle.

In his new book Nixon said he got angry at Kennedy in 1960 for calling for action against Fidel Castro after being briefed by the Eisenhower administration that a Cuban invasion was being prepared.

Kennedy avoided a direct clash with Nixon. Instead of answering the Californian himself, he had the White House issue a statement that he had not been told about the invasion plans until briefings after the election.

The President was supported in this by Allen W. Dulles who, as head of the Central Intelligence Agency in 1960, was the one who briefed Kennedy. He said he had never told him about the invasion plans during the campaign.

At Wednesday's news conference a reporter went fishing with a question about Nixon. It was a good chance for Kennedy to cut loose on his former rival. Instead, he said the White House statement had finished the business.
One of the wonders of Washington is how Kennedy can refrain from going after both the Republicans and his own Democrats who try to massacre his programs.

Philos To Host District Meet

Philos Lodge No. 64 of the Circleville Knights of Pythias will host a meeting of the Lodges of District No. 11 at 8 p. m. Monday in the Lodge rooms, 114 1/2 N. Court St.

District 11 includes nine lodges in Pickaway, Madison and Franklin counties.

Following the meeting, the Circleville Lodge will serve a luncheon to its guests. Members of the luncheon committee are W. E. Reichelderfer, Ralph DeLong, Orren Stout, Robert Barnes and Marvin Cook.

Anti-Rabies Series Faces 3 Youths

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Three 11-year-old Boy Scouts from Findlay will have to start a painful series of anti-rabies shots next week unless the owner of two dogs is found before then.

The boys were bitten by two Beagles witnesses said broke loose from a woman walking them on a leash and attacked the boys. They were with a group of scouts on an overnight camping trip at Van Buren Lake State Park north of Findlay.

All three were bitten badly enough to break the skin, police reported. The boys were treated at Fostoria Hospital.

Police say the dogs' action indicate they may be rabid. The Hancock County Health Department has appealed for help in finding the dogs and the owner.

He may feel he wants to avoid conflict with Democrats in the belief some of them can be won over later if no ill will is created. He can hardly feel, however, he can do the same with the Republicans.

The prime example of letting an opponent off the hook without tearing his pants also came Wednesday in the case of Rep. Carl Vinson, Georgia Democrat and powerful chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

Vinson not only wanted Kennedy to spend far more money on the RS70 bomber than the President thinks necessary but, in his enthusiasm, wanted the House to direct the President to do so. If the House did, it would have meant Congress was interfering with the President's authority. Kennedy said he'd restudy the problem but the word "direct" must come out. Vinson backed down, defeated.

Kennedy must do business with Vinson many times in the future

At his news conference Wednesday he tried to save face for the Georgian. He said there was "no winner and no loser" in their fight.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Take a tip from the calendar and put a spring in your step—and your menus—when touring supermarkets this weekend.

Spring lambs and spring fryers are attractive buys in many shops and this is also the season for dairy foods, eggs and pork products.

With fryers, poultry counters also feature broilers, stewing hens and turkeys. Freezer owners will be wise to buy and store turkeys in light of growing evidence that recent low prices won't last.

Pork buys include the traditional spring hams, plus roasts, chops and bacon.

At beef trays, chuck cuts seem to be the most generally attractive.

Lenten meal planners will again find good main course possibilities at fish and seafood departments.

In the Northeast, best buys include clams, oysters, halibut and smelt.

In the Southeast, look for mullet, Spanish mackerel, whiting and sea trout.

Midwesterners will find ample supplies of lake herring, clams, halibut, yellow perch, salmon and smelt.

In the Southwest, features include catfish, mixed greens, lettuce, onions, peppers and tomatoes are generally featured.

Westerners can look to rockfish, salmon, spiny lobsters, halibut and dungeness crabs.

Potatoes are still a good buy and carrots, mixed greens, lettuce, onions, peppers and tomatoes are generally featured.

Among fruits, the best buys are still apples, avocados, grapefruit, lemons and oranges.

Hotel Men In Cleveland Suffer Slump

CLEVELAND (AP)—Hotel men in Cleveland say their business is in a more serious slump than during the depression and that the percentage of rooms occupied is lower than in any major city in the country.

Hardest hit by the slump are the seven downtown hotels, which averaged only 54.2 per cent occupancy last year. The information comes from Ernest Wunderly, a resident partner in Horwath & Horwath, one of the two largest accounting firms in the nation dealing with hotels, clubs and restaurants.

He said Tuesday Cleveland's peak year was 1946 when 95 per cent of the hotel rooms were occupied.

William T. Lanham, a past president of the Cleveland Hotel Association and manager of Hotel Auditorium, said Cleveland is headed for the lowest spot of major cities for the third year in a row.

Gene Bostrom, new president of the association and manager of Hotel Hopkins at the airport, said gave two reasons for the decline in hotel guests.

"Historically, the hotel business is one of the last to feel a depression or recession and is one of the last to recover," he asserted. "And there has been a tremendous number of new units built, whether you call them motels, motor hotels or inns."

Dayton Industry Busy On Pollution Cleanup

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Dayton industry ranked fifth in the nation in industrial spending for air pollution control in 1960-61. Charles Howison, secretary of the Air Pollution Control League of Cincinnati told officials Wednesday night. Dayton industry's cleanup bill ran to $1.2 million over the last two years, Howison said in presenting an award.

Fourth Famed Name Added As Candidate

BOSTON (AP)—Another famed name has been added to the star-studded cast seeking a U.S. Senate seat from Massachusetts.

The latest candidate is Harvard history professor H. Stuart Hughes, 45, grandson of the late Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes.

Hughes said he will announce his candidacy next week as an independent.

His grandfather was the Republican nominee for president in 1916. Prof. Hughes said he "had been a Republican but more Democrat than anything else."

In the race for the Democratic nomination are Edward M. Kennedy, the President's youngest brother, and Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack, nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass.

George Cabot Lodge, son of former United Nations Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, is seeking the Republican nomination as is U.S. Rep. Lawrence Curtis.

Hughes said he hopes to make his candidacy a forum for his views on world disarmament and peace.

"I believe in the United States taking independent steps to disarmament and peace," he said.

Hughes, a native of New York, is a 1937 graduate of Amherst College. He earned master and doctor degrees at Harvard.

WASHINGTON (AP)—If President Kennedy were a traffic cop, there'd be no head-on crashes at his corner, at least head on into him.

After 14 months in office he's a firm believer that a soft answer turneth away wrath and that grievous words stir up anger.

He uses the soft, and avoids the grievous, particularly with people with whom he has to keep on doing business.

In this year alone a number of people have headed straight for him, but he has managed to detour them without using a black jack.

One was New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller who, like the very conservative Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, is a possible Republican presidential candidate in 1964.

Rockefeller accused Kennedy of political fakery when the President said he'd like to have a Negro. Robert C. Weaver, head up a proposed department of urban affairs and housing.

Kennedy was asked about the governor's crack at his next news conference. He could have gotten into a shouting match with the governor. But he brushed him aside. He said he had heard nobody could get to the right of Goldwater but now he doubted it.

Next came the highly conservative Sen. Strom Thurmond, South Carolina Democrat, who went after the Kennedy administration for censoring military officers' speeches and forced a Senate investigation.

It was just at the time Kennedy, rejecting Soviet Premier Khrushchev's bid for a summit meeting at the disarmament conference, said things ought to be worked out first at a lower level by foreign ministers.

At his next news conference a reporter, noting it was Valentine's Day, asked Kennedy about having a "heart-to-heart" talk with Thurmond who had called his foreign policy defeatist.

Kennedy, instead of giving Thurmond what-for, grinned and suggested a meeting with the senator should first be arranged at a "lower level." Not long afterward Thurmond excitement about censorship melted away.

This week the President and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who bumped heads in the 1960 presidential race, tangled again. Nixon started the tangle.

In his new book Nixon said he got angry at Kennedy in 1960 for calling for action against Fidel Castro after being briefed by the Eisenhower administration that a Cuban invasion was being prepared.

Kennedy avoided a direct clash with Nixon. Instead of answering the Californian himself, he had the White House issue a statement that he had not been told about the invasion plans until briefings after the election.

The President was supported in this by Allen W. Dulles who, as head of the Central Intelligence Agency in 1960, was the one who briefed Kennedy. He said he had never told him about the invasion plans during the campaign.

At Wednesday's news conference a reporter went fishing with a question about Nixon. It was a good chance for Kennedy to cut loose on his former rival. Instead, he said the White House statement had finished the business.

One of the wonders of Washington is how Kennedy can refrain from going after both the Republicans and his own Democrats who try to massacre his programs.

He may feel he wants to avoid conflict with Democrats in the belief some of them can be won over later if no ill will is created. He can hardly feel, however, he can do the same with the Republicans.

The prime example of letting an opponent off the hook without tearing his pants also came Wednesday in the case of Rep. Carl Vinson, Georgia Democrat and powerful chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

Vinson not only wanted Kennedy to spend far more money on the RS70 bomber than the President thinks necessary but, in his enthusiasm, wanted the House to direct the President to do so. If the House did, it would have meant Congress was interfering with the President's authority. Kennedy said he'd restudy the problem but the word "direct" must come out. Vinson backed down, defeated.

Kennedy must do business with Vinson many times in the future.

At his news conference Wednesday he tried to save face for the Georgian. He said there was "no winner and no loser" in their fight.

Anti-Rabies Series Faces 3 Youths

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Three 11-year-old Boy Scouts from Findlay will have to start a painful series of anti-rabies shots next week unless the owner of two dogs is found before then.

The boys were bitten by two Beagles witnesses said broke loose from a woman walking them on a leash and attacked the boys. They were with a group of scouts on an overnight camping trip at Van Buren Lake State Park north of Findlay.

All three were bitten badly enough to break the skin, police reported. The boys were treated at Fostoria Hospital.

Police say the dogs' action indicate they may be rabid. The Hancock County Health Department has appealed for help in finding the dogs and the owner.

Kennedy Tells U.S. Reserves 'Life Is Unfair'

UNITED NATIONS — Advocating the purchase of U.N. bonds, Kennedy said there is no evidence the United Nations would be able to pay back within the three allotted years a $10-million loan proposed by Republican senators as an alternative. Failure to go through with the bond purchase, he said, would break down U.N. operations in the Congo and Middle East.

RESERVISTS—Some people always get better breaks than others, he advised reservists who objected to being called to active duty. "Life is unfair," he said. But he declared they have "strengthened the foreign policy of the United States" in the Berlin and Southeast Asian crises and predicted they will find satisfaction later in feeling they contributed to the security of their families and country.

ALGERIA — Reproaching Moscow for quick recognition of the provisional Algerian government, Kennedy said the United States will act when the proper moment comes rather than attempt "for political purposes to exploit a situation."

CUBA—Cuban plans to try prisoners captured in last year's futile invasion attempt as war criminals "is a matter of great national as well as personal distress," he said.

MEDICAL CARE—To brand his medical care program an opening wedge for socialized medicine, Kennedy said, is to use a version of "the oldest argument in the world." Had that argument succeeded, "there would not have been any progress on any social legislation in this country."

CONGRESS — He said Democratic party leaders "have been very faithful" and are "doing the best they can."

COMMUNICATIONS — Kennedy said he would have to examine whether cutting to $1 the price of shares in a communications satellite corporation to enable all taxpayers to get in on the project would be in the public interest. He voiced doubt the rate of return would compare with other investments for many years.

RS70—Nobody won or lost, Kennedy said, in the agreement that averted a contest over whether Congress had authority to order the executive branch to spend more than it wanted on the high-altitude RS70 bomber. It served the public interest and preserved good relations with Congress, he said.

Jury Rules Manslaughter In Death Case

LISBON, Ohio (AP) — William P. Boyd Jr., 22, of East Liverpool was convicted Wednesday night by a Columbiana County Common Pleas Court jury, which lowered the charge from first-degree murder to manslaughter in the slaying of Boyd's estranged wife.

Prosecutor J. William Brokaw had asked the jury for the death penalty against Boyd. The jurors deliberated more than three hours.

Boyd was accused in the beating and shooting of Nancy Lee Chandler Boyd, 18, last Nov. 5. Her body was found 10 days later in a field four miles north of East Liverpool.

The prosecutor contended Boyd killed his wife because he was jealous of her attentions to other men.

In asking the death penalty, the prosecutor called it brutal, premeditated murder. He said after beating his wife, Boyd dragged her, still alive, some distance into the field, then went back to his car to get the shotgun with which he killed her.

Defense attorneys told the court Mrs. Boyd had dated a number of other men before and after the birth of her daughter.

Boyd, who displayed no emotion during the trial, smiled briefly when the verdict was read. He faces a 1-20 year sentence and would be eligible for parole after 11 months.

Judge Raymond Buzzard did not set a date for sentencing.

Controversial Overseas Paper Is Given Nod

WASHINGTON (AP)—The publication Overseas Weekly will be continued on sale at U.S. military bases in Europe, the Defense Department said Wednesday.

The decision was made by Gen. Lauris Norstad, U.S. commander in chief in Europe, on the basis of what a Pentagon spokesman said was the "improvement in the standards" of the privately owned and widely sold paper.

The Overseas Weekly, which at times has carried articles and pictures to which the military objected, has been a point of controversy for almost a decade. In 1953, the Army refused to permit continued distribution of the paper through the circulation facilities of the official service publication Stars and Stripes. This ban was lifted later.

The controversy reopened last fall. As a result, Norstad directed another investigation.

Scandal and sex stories have had a prominent place in some issues of Overseas Weekly. But also included have been articles sharply critical of military policies and procedures in the European area.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The publication Overseas Weekly will be continued on sale at U.S. military bases in Europe, the Defense Department said Wednesday.

The decision was made by Gen. Lauris Norstad, U.S. commander in chief in Europe, on the basis of what a Pentagon spokesman said was the "improvement in the standards" of the privately owned and widely sold paper.

The Overseas Weekly, which at times has carried articles and pictures to which the military objected, has been a point of controversy for almost a decade. In 1953, the Army refused to permit continued distribution of the paper through the official service publication Stars and Stripes. This ban was lifted later.

The controversy reopened last fall. As a result, Norstad directed another investigation.

Scandal and sex stories have had a prominent place in some issues of Overseas Weekly. But also included have been articles sharply critical of military policies and procedures in the European area.

Maurer Is Speaker At SCOL Meeting

Dr. Howard (Red) Maurer, head of the department of physical education and baseball coach at Wittenberg College, was the principle speaker at the spring dinner meeting of the South Central Ohio League coaches and school officials last night at the Washington C. H. Country Club. Maurer began his long career in coaching at Washington C. H. in the early 1930s.

Tom Bryant, basketball coach at Hillsboro, presented the All-SCOL basketball team to the group. He presented each boy a certificate of recognition.

Jack Gill, coach of SCO league championship basketball team, Wilmington, accepted the league trophy from Richard Snouffer, president of the group.

Snouffer announced that the SCO league, along with six other central Ohio high school leagues, would cooperate with the National Football Hall of Fame in choosing an outstanding football "athlete-scholar" to represent the Central Ohio District in the National Football Hall of Fame.

ALTHOUGH wrestling was not a league sport this year, congratulations were extended to Don Woodland of Franklin Heights and his central district wrestling champions.

Snouffer announced that golf will be a league sport this year. There will be five schools fielding golf teams this year — Circleville, Pleasant View, Washington C. H., Franklin Heights and Wilmington.

The league tournament is scheduled for May 12, on the Washington C. H. Country Club golf course.

Schedules for the baseball and golf teams were completed at last night's meeting.

High Court Upholds OHSAA In Canton McKinley Penalty

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Supreme Court has given the Ohio High School Athletic Association its wholehearted endorsement, and Canton McKinley High School almost surely will have no interscholastic football next fall.

The high court issued a writ of prohibition Wednesday that prevents Stark County Common Pleas Court from interfering with the OHSAA's one-year suspension of McKinley from the gridiron.

At the same time it issued the writ, the Supreme Court served strong notice on Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy that it shows little sympathy toward his pending suit seeking to have the OHSAA disbanded in favor of government regulation of schoolboy sports.

Cousy Slated For Another Playing Year

BOSTON (AP)—Bob Cousy has bad news for the rest of the National Basketball Association. He'll be back for another season with the world champion Boston Celtics.

A veteran—at 33—of a dozen years in the physically exhausting NBA, the 6-foot-1 floor general and court magician decided Wednesday after talking it over with the boss, Walter Brown, to play one more year.

"If Walter wants me to return for another season I'll do it," Cousy said before the conference. "I owe him that much."

The former Holy Cross star had been mulling over two other possibilities: staying with the Celtics in a front office job or leaving pro basketball to coach the sport at Boston College.

Though Cousy did not admit it, it was believed the BC post was his for the asking.

It was believed that the non-playing Boston job would have been a combination of scouting and public relations work for the Celtics, who despite their three consecutive NBA championships are not particularly good gate at tractions in Boston.

Miami Open To Be Worth $50,000

MIAMI, Fla., (AP) — Gusto winds were forecast during the opening round of the $50,000 Miami Open Golf Tournament today, but a great par-busting performance still was expected from a crack field of touring pros.

Playing in similar conditions Wednesday over a tough, 7,028-yard layout recently chopped out of swampy farmland, 14 pros trimmed one to four strokes off par 72 despite the tricky winds.

Billy Maxwell and Mason Rudolph tied at 68 in the 18-hole pro-amateur tuneup.

The colorful veteran, Sam Snead, making only his second tournament appearance of the year, shot a 69 to the Jacky Cupit and Bill Casper for third place.

Ben Hogan, the old master who now enters only about four tournaments a year, chose this event for his first competition of 1962. After a rest at his home in Johannesburg, South Africa, Gary Player will get back into the tournament swing here.

Player, last year's biggest money winner, left the circuit in California after finishing out of the money in the Bing Crosby event for the first time in 49 consecutive tournaments. He has won only $1,580 this year.

Hutch Says Coleman To Top '61 Output

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — From what he has seen so far, Manager Fred Hutchinson of the Cincinnati Reds believes Gordy Coleman may top by a considerable margin his 1961 production of 26 home runs and 87 runs-batted-in.

"He should knock 35 out of the park," Hutch said Wednesday as he watched Coleman lace six wind-blown balls over the right field fence, as Baltimore swamped the Reds 12-6. "And," Hutchinson added, "that could well mean 100 runs knocked in."

Coleman has a batting average of .354 so far—tops for a team considering that he alone has started in all 11 exhibition games so far.

Officers and directors of the Circleville Booster Club have scheduled a special meeting for 7:30 p. m. today at the high school social rooms, President Charles Hart announced.

The Booster officials will discuss possibilities of setting up an exhibition basketball game here involving the senior members of this year's mighty Ohio State University cage unit. The college greets have expressed a desire to book a post-season tilt here in April.

The OSU senior cagers include Jerry Lucas, John Havlicek, Mel Nowell, Bobby Knight and Gary Gearhart. If scheduled, the unit would meet a local All-Star team.

UCLA Is Labeled Possible Sleeper

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A team noted for its alertness, UCLA, may turn out to be the sleeper in the National Collegiate (NCAA) Basketball Championships that move into the show-down stage at spacious Freedom Hall Friday night.

The Uclans (18-9) champions of the Far West regional eliminations, play defending national champion Cincinnati (27-2) in the second game of a semi-final doubleheader that opens with top ranked Ohio State (25-1) meeting Wake Forest (21-8).

No one who remembers the way another West Coast sleeper, California, came from out of the also rans to win the national title the last time the championships were held in Louisville — in 1959 — is overlooking the Bruins.

Their record? Forget it. They lost seven of their first 11 games. They've traveled at a 14-2 pace since.

Their lack of height, which shows 6-foot-5, 230-pound Fred Slaughter as the over-all biggest man among the front liners? Forget that, too. In winning the Far West regional at Provo, Utah, they disposed of the biggest team in the NCAA tournament—Oregon State, with 7-foot-1 Mel Counts—by the tidy score of 88-69.

Their low national ranking? They were rated third best in the Big Five conference in pre-season estimates, yet here they are only two victories away from the national championship.

"I've never been so proud of a team in my life," Coach John Wooden said.

Coach Ed Jucker of Cincinnati remembers too well what California did in the 1959 tournament (he was an assistant when unsung Cal beat the Bearcats in the national semifinals) to underrate any team that has come this far.

"I learned my lesson then," he said. "You don't underestimate any team at this stage."

As the nation's coaches began streaming into town for the games and the concurrent meetings, most were talking of an anticipated rematch of last year's championship — in which Cincinnati upset unbeaten Ohio State 70-65 in overtime.

The Buckeyes and their great three-time All-America, Jerry Lucas, beat Wake Forest 84-62 at Wake Forest in December and polished off UCLA 105-84 in the Los Angeles Classic a few days later. But the Deacons, like UCLA, found themselves late-winning their last 12 after standing 9-8 at mid-season.

After a rest at his home in Johannesburg, South Africa, Gary Player will get back into the tournament swing here.

Steers Idled As Loop Plans Round-Robin

KANSAS CIT (AP)—The Kansas City Steers made the American Basketball League's first race such a runaway that the league won't go through the motions of a championship playoff for the second half of the season.

Instead, the other six teams will vie in a kind of round-robin tournament and the winner will tackle the Steers for the grand championship.

Ken Krueger, owner of the Steers, announced the arrangement and said the process will start at Pittsburgh next Wednesday night.

There will be a second round in Pittsburgh March 29, another at an undetermined site March 30 and the windup will come in Kansas City March 31. Details of the tournament will be worked out at a league meeting in Chicago Saturday.

The winner and the Steers will collide in the first two games of a best-of-five series April 1 and 3 at Kansas City.

The Steers ran their second-half record to 24-13 Wednesday night with a 110-101 victory over the New York Tapers. This gave them a six-game bulge on San Francisco in the Western Division and four games on Cleveland, leader in the Eastern Division.

The Steers easily took the first-half championship in the Western Division and beat Cleveland in a playoff.

Cleveland made it six straight by beating Pittsburgh 124-102 in the other league game Wednesday night.

Steers Idled As Loop Plans Round-Robin

KANSAS CIT (AP)—The Kansas City Steers made the American Basketball League's first race such a runaway that the league won't go through the motions of a championship playoff for the second half of the season.

Instead, the other six teams will vie in a kind of round-robin tournament and the winner will tackle the Steers for the grand championship.

Ken Krueger, owner of the Steers, announced the arrangement and said the process will start at Pittsburgh next Wednesday night.

There will be a second round in Pittsburgh March 29, another at an undetermined site March 30 and the winndup will come in Kansas City March 31. Details of the tournament will be worked out at a league meeting in Chicago Saturday.

The winner and the Steers will collide in the first two games of a best-of-five series April 1 and 3 at Kansas City.

The Steers ran their second-half record to 24-13 Wednesday night with a 110-101 victory over the New York Tapers. This gave them a six-game bulge on San Francisco in the Western Division and four games on Cleveland, leader in the Eastern Division.

The Steers easily took the first-half championship in the Western Division and beat Cleveland in a playoff.

Cleveland made it six straight by beating Pittsburgh 124-102 in the other league game Wednesday night.

NEW YORK (AP)—This season's successes, "Dr. Kildare" and "Ben Casey," apparently have kicked off more than a television trend for medical adventure series. They have returned to high favor programs named after their central character.

In recent years — ever since ABC's "77 Sunset Strip" had its initial, spectacular popularity—the numbers and address titles have been very much in vogue. We have "Surfside 6," "Cain's Hundred," "Route 66," "Car 54, Where are you?" "8th Precinct," and "Twentieth Century." We used to have "The Roaring 20s," and "Number Please."

But now it is changing. Among the shows scheduled for next fall are "Adam Fable," "Vive Judson McKay," "Our Man Higgins," "Dr. Z," and "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington." Proof positive of the new fashion in titles is the recent switch that changed a fall show "333 Montgomery Street," into "Sam Benedict."

"Sam Benedict," incidentally, is a story built around the real exploits of a San Francisco attorney, Jake Erlich, and will be shoved into NBC's Saturday night line-up, 7:30-8:30.

CBS will be moving "Perry Mason" to Thursday nights come autumn to make room for Jackie Gleason's new series. But with the NBC show coming into Perry's old time period, lovers of courtroom dramas can stick to their established Saturday night viewing habits with only the extra effort of switching back to CBS for "The Defenders."

This week's "Dick Powell Show," with William Bendix playing a heavy, quite obviously was one program that the producers hoped could be blown into a future series. Even before it was reeled to the home audience it had been an unsuccessful candidate for a Saturday night spot in NBC's fall lineup.

It wasn't much of a show—just another of those oft-told adventure yarns purportedly based on official files, in this case those of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and the unpeppery television story out of the Hollywood mills about truck drivers and the illegal "pep pill" trade.

Recommended tonight: "Bob Hope Show," NBC, 8:30-9:30 (EST) — guest stars are Ethel Schell and Piper Laurie.

Lehigh University has won 15 Eastern Intercollegiate wrestling championships, more than any other school.

Subconscious Behavior Is Under Study

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A peek at behavior and a powder for atomic warning are subjects for science at work: Take a Notion

Ever wonder what it is that makes you pick up that box of cake mix in the supermarket and absentmindedly drop it in your shopping cart, although you have two boxes on the shelf at home?

Could be you're hungry, and the message is finally getting through your subconscious.

In fact it appears that many of our subconscious moods and drives may begin at the stem of the brain in some sort of partnership of electrical and chemical action.

Experiments, described in this month's Scientific American magazine, indicate that an animal's behavior can be manipulated by electrical stimulation of the brain.

Chickens, with electrodes in their brains, can be made to peck, flee, or vocalize, by electrical stimulation, the article explains. This sort of study may help man understand his own behavior.

Take a Powder
A new and inexpensive button—to measure how much radioactivity an individual may meet in an atomic attack—has been designed by University of Wisconsin scientists.

It contains a little bit of lithium fluoride powder—which can record the amount of radiation that strikes it. When it is heated to about 500 degrees Fahrenheit, the powder releases its energy in the form of light. From there it is simple: the more radiation, the more energy, the more light.

A small button which could be mass produced for something like a dime a copy, could be hooked onto drivers' licenses, easily processed in hospitals in an emergency, scientists said.

2 Firms Lose Appeals on Idle Pay Fuss

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Lorain County firm and one in Mahoning County have lost an Ohio Supreme Court decision on their contention that certain idled workers were ineligible for 1953 unemployment benefits increases. The court held unanimously Wednesday against General Industries Co. and Youngstown Steel Tank Co. The firms had challenged the increase on grounds it imposed new burdens retroactively, after original determination of benefits became final.

Both cases involved employees laid off in early 1953. Originally awarded jobless benefits of $33 a week for 26 weeks, legal maximum at the time, they received an increase when a change in the unemployment compensation law raised the maximum to $42 a week for the unexpired portion of the 26-week period.

The Supreme Court said the revised law could not be termed retroactive because it provided only for recomputation and payment of increased benefits.

Board of Review decisions allowing the increases were upheld by common pleas courts and affirmed by Mahoning County Appellate Court in the Youngstown Steel Tank case but reversed by Lorain County Appeals Court in the General Industries case.

A prescription is the summation of your doctor's knowledge, skill and experience applied to your immediate health needs.
When you hold a prescription, you hold your health in your hands. The sooner you obtain the medicine, the faster you will feel better. The longer you hold the prescription, the longer your recovery will be delayed.
Bring the prescription to us as soon as possible and we will have your medicine ready for you in a matter of minutes.
